THE WONDERFUL NEW W. JNO. BAKER STAINLESS STEEL TABLE KNIVES.

They will neither rust nor stain, and may be left in either water or acid without the bright and silvery appearance being in the least affected. Just think of what this means. Half the labour of washing up is eliminated—simply wash the knives in warm water, wipe with a soft, dry cloth, and they are as clean as ever and ready for the table once more. No laborious work with the knife board or machine, no expenditure on powder or polish, and always bright and shining cutlery with the very minimum of trouble. The cleaning of knives is the cause of the blade wearing out quickly. W. JNO. BAKER STAINLESS STEEL KNIVES REQUIRE NO CLEANING, and therefore have practically continuous wear.

I can recommend these knives, as they are made of the VERY BEST QUALITY STAINLESS STEEL, and, moreover, I have tested them by using in my own home for over 12 months, and they have stood the test admirably, remaining unstained and bright.

GREATER THAN "THE CHEAT."

AND THAT IS A SERIOUS ASSERTION TO MAKE.

GLOBE THEATRE,

TO-DAY, AND ALL THE WEEK. TO-DAY.
This a superlative production. More thrilling, more gripping, more wonderful than "THE CHEAT."

"THE GOLDEN CHANCE" stands out as a marvellous picture in an age of remarkable productions.
"THE GOLDEN CHANCE" abounds in tremendous situations. The unexpected confronts you at every turn.

"THE GOLDEN CHANCE" IS UNIQUE FOR A STANDARD OF PHOTOGRAPHY that may be equalled by Lasky, but never excelled.
"THE GOLDEN CHANCE" INTRODUCES a new star
CLEO RIDGELEY,
CLEO RIDGELEY,
CLEO RIDGELEY,
WHO, WITH ONE BOUND, has jumped to the front of her profession.

"THE GOLDEN CHANCE" IS ALSO RESPONSIBLE FOR THE INTRODUCTION OF
WALLACE REID,
WALLACE REID,
WALLACE REID,

the Apollo of the screen, whose masculine beauty conceals the thews and sinews of a Hercules. He is without doubt the greatest juvenile lead in the world. "THE GOLDEN CHANCE" GROWS IN POWER AS ONE BREATHLESS ACT SUCCEEDS ANOTHER, WORKING UP TO A CRASHING CLIMAX EVOLVED FROM A HURRICANE SCENE OF MORTAL COMBAT.

READ WHAT THE CRITICS SAY OF THIS WONDER PICTURE.

"Real life mirrored with wonderful fidelity. . . . This play is a triumph of production and acting."
The "Bioscope."

"This is a really wonderful picture. . . . It stands out as a milestone on the road of great achievements."
Stephen Bush, in the "Motion Picture World."

"Superlatives are dangerous, particularly that overworked little word 'best,' and when employed to describe a Lasky picture the danger is even greater, for if we are inclined to say that such and such a picture is the best that Lasky has produced, next week there comes another even better, and better than the best is—well, its 'THE GOLDEN CHANCE.'"
Peter Milne, in the "Motion Picture News."

Don't forget that Lasky made "THE CHEAT" and "THE GOLDEN CHANCE" is acclaimed an ever greater picture.

FINALLY, READ THIS—
"With all confidence, and well realising what such statement means to the reputation of the theatres under my control, I regard 'THE GOLDEN CHANCE' as the greatest picture in five or six reels that I have ever been privileged to present to the public, not even excepting 'THE CHEAT.'"
(Sgd.) FRANK WADDINGTON,
Managing Director,
J. C. Williamson-Waddington, Ltd.

"THE GOLDEN CHANCE" will be shown at the GLOBE THEATRE, GEORGE-STREET, TO-DAY, and ALL THE WEEK.

SCOTNEY-WHITE CONCERTS.

Mme. Evelyn Scotney and Mr. Howard White, who made their Sydney debut with complete success at the Conservatorium on Saturday night, have both sung for several seasons with the famous Boston Opera Company, and the former has the additional recommendation of being a Victorian by birth and early training. Incidentally, the new Melbourne soprano is of handsome and imposing presence, with a decided talent for stylish dressing. Visiting stars of the old order of things used to repeat a very restricted repertoire—that great singer Charles Santley furnished a case in point—but concert audiences now demand a profusion of memorised ballads, songs, and operatic arias of contrasted styles and varied interest as the woof and web of the up-to-date song-recital. These two accomplished artists provide all this; scattering their largesse of musical gems with lavish hand. Mme. Scotney possesses a beautiful lyric soprano of firm and pleasing texture, fine range, and technical fluency. Mr. White's basso cantante suffers from a harsh thread in the timbre, but the defect is by no means always apparent, the voice is ample in volume, and by sound musicianship he always keeps his audience interested. The party is completed by Mr. John Amadio, a very able flautist, and Mr. Harold Elvins, a competent pianist.

Mme. Scotney opened with the Mad Scene from "Lucia," beginning at the aria "Ardon gl' Incensi," the wistful charm of which was followed by the variations. There were brilliantly executed shakes echoed by the flute, and finally the elaborate cadenza for voice and flute, in which the soprano was admirably supported by Mr. Amadio. Enthusiasm led to the addition of a North American Indian "Lullaby," by the French-Canadian composer Lieurance. It is the custom of Redskin lovers to serenade their future brides on the flute, neither party at any time seeing each other during courtship. However, the peculiar flute-call of the lover identifies him, and is always used in after life to signify his return home from the forest. Last night the flautist behind the scenes was heard playing the plaintive love-theme, and the young wife, in the person of the soprano, then took up the melody, and weaved it into the hush-a-by with which she charmed her little one to sleep. Mme. Scotney's delightful rendering quite captured the audience. On what may be termed the foreign side, she sang Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Chanson Indoue," an Oriental air, marked by an effect of subtle melancholy; Reynaldo Hahn's "Si mes vers avaient des Ailes," charmingly given, though a shade faster tempo would have accentuated the impulse of joy; and "Fantoches," one of Debussy's fantastic pieces of a humorous nature. The singer, with wild little screams, kept up the idea of a puppet, chromatic passages helped to create a weird, dream-like atmosphere, and so the figure went on until the clock work ran down, and all came to a gradual standstill. Singer and pianist worked up the idea effectively, and the applause was well merited. After the "Fantoches," Mme. Scotney (as encore) rendered "Angels Guard Thee" (the Berceuse from Godard's opera "Jocelyn") with tender expression, the 'cello obbligato to which was most sympathetically played on the 'cello (muted) by Mr. Howard White; and after her third group, the soprano excited so much enthusiasm that she added three extra numbers.

Mr. White won acceptance for much new music, including the "Air du Tambour Major" from "Le Caid," a two-act opera, composed in 1849 by Ambroise Thomas. The melodious nature of the opening sostenuto air, the vivacious character of the staccato theme, and the martial rhythm of the close, were all well expressed by the artist, and, although the music, with its cadenza and formal conclusion, is now a little out of date, it formed an interesting contribution. Special mention must also be made of "Rheims Cathedral, 1914," poetical lyrics by Grace Hagard Conkling, set to music of a very modern character by Professor Vieh, of Smith College, Northampton (Mass.). The voice-part resembled a solemn chant, marked by strange intervals, the whole forming a lament over the destruction of the immemorial fane. There was an uplift in the music to swelling arpeggios towards the end at the words "Thy bells live on," and the whole proved impressive. Homer's "Uncle Rome," Stock's "Route Marchin'," and various other new songs, were all cordially welcomed by the audience; and the contributions by Messrs. Amadio and Elvins, both of whom were called on for extra numbers, were warmly appreciated.

Messrs. J. and N. Tait announce concerts, with fresh programme, for to-morrow and Thursday at the new King's Hall, and for next Saturday at the Conservatorium. The plan is at Nicholson's.

PERSONAL CHARM is the natural accompaniment of a beautiful complexion, and a beautiful complexion is the natural result of using PEARS' SOAP, Matchless for the Complexion.—Advt.

"WALLINGFORD" REVIVED.

There was a crowded audience at the Criterion Theatre on Saturday night to see the revival of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford." The revival opened the door to a good deal of comparative criticism, as it was Mr. Hale Hamilton's first appearance here as J. Rufus Wallingford—the part he had "created" in New York and in London. Nearly every one in the audience must have seen Mr. Fred Niblo as the unscrupulous and audacious swindler, who, with the aid of a running accomplice, "Blackie" Daw, sets himself the task of "cleaning out" a small and slow-going American township. More robust than Mr. Niblo in look and manner, and lacking the "oily" freedom which was one of Mr. Niblo's best characteristics, Mr. Hamilton, who entered with a muzzled bulldog and an Indian servant, did not make much headway in the first act. Unlike our first Wallingford, who had an experienced pacemaker in Mr. Harry Corson Clarke, the principal comedian on Saturday night had to get through the first act with very little assistance from Mr. Maurice Dudley, the new "Blackie" Daw. Mr. Hamilton was also handicapped by the almost entire absence of the American "atmosphere," which was so helpful to Mr. Niblo in the brisk and boisterous hotel office scenes of the comedy. On the principle of compensation Mr. Hamilton had an advantage over his popular rival in the new Fannie Jasper. Miss Myrtle Tannehill looked and played the part of the typist in an admirable manner. Mr. Hamilton made the second act a winning act, and in the third he had an overflowing measure of success, while simulating anger and the pain of wounded honour in the "bluff" scene with the deluded directors of the carpet-tack company. The points which were scored to an accompaniment of laughter in the third act made up for any deficiencies in the first act.

Next to the Fannie Jasper of Miss Tannehill, Mr. Edwin Lester's G. W. Battles was the best played part in the support of the old-new Wallingford. The make-up of Mr. Donald Bowles as Eddie Lamb was clever, and the "business" of the part quite new. But, unfortunately, for the success of what may be called the great deception scene, Mr. Bowles looked more like the Artful Dodger of Dickens than a soft-headed and soft-hearted hotel clerk who allows himself to be robbed of his savings by a stranger. The new faces in the revival included Miss Nancye Stewart, who was surprisingly good as Bessie Meers, the gum-chewing waitress, Miss Mattee Brown, as Gertrude Dempsey, the hotelkeeper's pretty daughter, and Miss Eileen Robinson, as Dorothy Welles, a character she invested with girlish charm and brightness.

THE ROYAL STROLLERS.

Mr. Sydney James and his Royal Strollers, with a complete change of programme, again attracted a crowded audience to the Palace on Saturday night. Mr. James again demonstrated his extraordinary versatility by playing many parts, and playing them well. "A game of cards in three deals—bridge, whist, and nap"—was an irresistibly funny burlesque. "Motoring in Australia," another new item, also pleased the audience, though it might perhaps be improved by a little judicious cutting down. "Billy" in the hands of Mr. James, was as droll a puppet as ever, and his quips and topical allusions were received with manifestations of delight. A number of old favourites were revived for the first time this season, including the burlesque, "Our Picture Show," and several new songs were introduced by Misses Gwen Lewis and Connie Milne, and Messrs. G. W. Desmond and George Graystone. Miss Madeline Rossiter again showed herself to be a dainty and original dancer, as well as the possessor of a charming voice.

THE MERRYVALE POPS.

There was a large attendance at the Town Hall on Saturday evening, when the Merryvale Pops were continued. An interesting programme was submitted. A feature of the instrumental side of the concert was the playing of one of Liszt's difficult fantasias by Beryl Heward, a promising child pianist. The young player met with a fine reception, and had encore honours. Miss Carrie Lanceley (lyric soprano) was loudly applauded for her brilliant singing of "Ocean, Thou Mighty Monster" and "Love, Dear is My Heart." Mr. Colin Crane sang "The Windmill" and "Reuben Ranzo." The popular tenor, Mr. Philip Newbury, was in fine voice in "Ah Si ben Mio" ("Il Trovatore") and the war song "Bianca." Mr. Newbury and Miss Carrie Lanceley charmed the audience with the "Garden Scene" (Faust), and subsequently the tenor and Mr. Colin Crane gave "The Moon Hath Raised." Miss Maie Juncker (contralto) made an excellent impression in "The Gleaner's Slumber Song" and "Idle Words." A harp solo, "Echoes of a Waterfall," by Miss Winifred Carter, and duet (harp and violin) by the last-named and Mr. W. M'Kenzie, were much appreciated. Humorous items were contributed by Mr. Harry de Robeck. Mr. Ernest Truman (city organist) gave a couple of organ solos, and the pianoforte accompaniments were admirably played by Mr. G. Vern Barnett. The management announces that owing to the hall being otherwise engaged there will be no concert next Saturday night. The series will be continued on the 16th inst.

ARTISTS AT LEISURE.

Surrounded by their exhibition pictures, all tastefully hung in the new gallery at the Department of Public Instruction, members of the Sydney Royal Art Society gave themselves up to mild revelry on Saturday night—the occasion of their annual "smoko." Amongst those who entertained the company were Messrs. Charles Smythe, Harold Campbell, Bruce Carter ('cello), Professor Stuart and pupils (displays of fencing and bayonet fighting), Abbot (conjurer), Smith, and Wilkie, while Messrs. Taylor, Butler, and Rubbo did some lightning sketches.

ROYAL PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.

The Royal Philharmonic Society of Sydney will hold an "In Memoriam" concert at the Town Hall on Thursday, September 21, in honour of those nobly fallen at the front. Verdi's dramatic "Requiem," under Mr. Joseph Bradley's baton; Sullivan's "In Memoriam" overture, the "Dead March" in "Saul," and the "Last Post," by military trumpeters, will be rendered. The vocalists will be Mme. Goossens-Viceroy (soprano), Miss Ferrie Ward (mezzo), Mr. Hector Goldspink (tenor), and Mr. Walter Cumming (bass). Mr. Staell will be leader. Plan at Paling's September 14.

FIRST AND FIFTY-THIRD BATTALION COMFORTS CONCERT.

The Royal Philharmonic Society, under Mr. Joseph Bradley, the Headquarters' Military Band, Miss Carrie Lanceley, Messrs. Philip Newbury, Vern Barnett, W. Reginald Goood, Henri Staell, Frank Hutchens, Miss Brenda Deloitte, and Miss Lilian Frost will assist at a concert at the Town Hall on Thursday, September 28, in aid of a fund to provide comforts at Christmas for the soldiers in the trenches of the 1st and 53rd Battalions. A strong committee is energetically organising.

OBSERVATORY SCOUTS' CONCERT.

On Tuesday, September 12, a concert will be given at the Repertory Theatre in aid of the Observatory Hill Troop Boy Scouts, under the direction of Mr. Charles Aston (basso). Others assisting will be Misses Rosie Kidson, Vera M'Donald, Messrs. W. J. Coad, Harry Leston, Martinelli, and Vern Barnett. The plan, at popular prices, is at Anderson's Music House.

MINING CORPS COMFORTS' CONCERT.

An enjoyable war concert at popular prices has been organised to take place at the Town Hall on Monday, September 18, being in response to Major David's special appeal for the Australian Mining Corps Comforts' Fund. The concert is under the distinguished patronage of his Excellency the Governor, the Chancellor of the University, and other notables, and is given under the auspices of the Royal Society and ten other influential associations. Mr. Charles Smythe will direct the concert, the artists at which will be Mrs. Victor Morse, and Misses Carrie Lanceley, Emilie Penn, Marguerite Edwards, Messrs. Philip Newbury, Charles Smythe, Ernest Truman, Will Caspers, Harry Cutler, the Corelli Brothers, and the Engineers' Depot Band (Bandmaster Sergeant Wellington). Tickets at Beard, Watson's.

CARE OF INFANTS.

Referring to the proceedings of a recent conference of the National Association for the prevention of infant mortality, held in London, the Chief Secretary said on Saturday that New South Wales was well ahead of England in the matter of State activities in this respect. All the subjects dealt with at the London conference, said Mr. Black, have received attention at the hands of the New South Wales Government.

The compulsory notification of births and still-births is dealt with under the Notification of Births Act," said Mr. Black. "The State Children's Relief Board deals with the supervision of children placed out to nurse. There are two women health visitors in this department, and there is also a subsidised officer of the City Council. The subsidising of infant welfare and maternity centres; the making of provision for the ante-natal and post-natal care of mothers and babies, and the medical supervision and treatment of children under school age are dealt with by the Baby Clinics Board, under which 11 of these clinics have been established. The instruction of school girls in infant care is dealt with by the Department of Education."

SHORTAGE OF FRESH WATER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—At the risk of being considered impertinent, may I suggest to the powers that be of the city and suburbs that a boundless supply of water surely suitable for flushing sewers and watering streets (at least those streets where there are not displayed goods liable to be damaged) lies at their very threshold, viz., our harbour, of which we are reasonably so proud. Years ago, when only a limited water supply was available, the city authorities pumped salt water to a small reservoir on the heights, and from thence distributed. Perhaps the pipes then laid and used are still available; at any rate, at a small cost an adequate supply for the purposes I have indicated could be obtained and the present enormous waste of valuable fresh water prevented. Another impertinence. If the authorities will carefully inquire, they will find, what is common knowledge, that many householders who have no meters use water with scandalous dishonesty, running it on garden plots all night.

I am., etc., W.

SATURDAY'S MATCHES.

OPENING OF CLUB PAVILION.

The chief function in bowling circles on Saturday was the official opening of the new pavilion at Ashfield. The building, which cost nearly £1000, is one of the finest in the metropolis. Mr. J. Harrison and Mr. G. Wheelwright, both of whom are active members of the Ashfield Club, designed the building and supervised its erection. There was a gathering of between 400 and 500 people. The president and secretary of each of the metropolitan clubs were invited to take part in a match between teams selected by the president and secretary of the Ashfield Club. The president's team won by 32 points. The Mayor, Alderman Hammond, declared the pavilion open, and he and the president of the Bowling Association, Mr. J. Spence, were each presented with inscribed mallets, and asked to affix marble tablets to the outer pillars to denote the completion of the building. Details of the match:—

Your Sick Child is Constipated! Look at Tongue.

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver and bowels with California Syrup of Figs.

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhœa, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of California Syrup of Figs—"Califig," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently move out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless fruit laxative, because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages, and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

MADE BY DAVID JONES

A Marked Advance in Australian Industry.—All our windows are this week devoted to a complete showing of goods "made by David Jones." Significant as such a display would be in normal times, it is of far greater importance under present conditions, as the resolve to buy Australian-made goods has become widespread.

In our factory illustrated at the side twenty industries are represented, which find employment for over seven hundred workers.

The advantages of goods "made by David Jones" are briefly summed up in "BETTER VALUE." Piece goods being imported either free of duty or in any case at much less than ready made apparel, have only to bear the cost of making.

The actual making by the retailer means total elimination of both manufacturer's and wholesaler's profits, consequently garments are produced equal in quality to any imported and at more moderate prices.

You are specially invited to not only view the windows, but also the departmental displays throughout the week

When presently the pair entered the grounds of The Towers, Mr. Tenniers questioned the first under-gardener they met. From him they learned that Timmins was at work in the furnace-house of the glass range, under the supervision of Mr. Macgregor.

"What infernal luck!" Mr. Tenniers exploded. "I remember now that months ago I gave Macgregor leave to have the furnace improved. To think that he should have chosen this day of all days. But we will soon put that right."

Muttering anathemas, the master followed his outburst by quickening his pace towards the range of glass. His symptoms were those of intense annoyance tempered with regret for his own forgetfulness. He was so upset that for the moment his flow of civilities ceased, and for that reason when they approached the furnace-house the steady chink, chink of a trowel was the more plainly audible.

Mr. Tenniers entered first, his guest hard on his heels. Macgregor was standing sentinel over an aperture in the wall from which an iron door had been removed, and from which a pair of hobnailed boots protruded. A shower of fire-blackened brickbats was coming helter skelter from the hole.

"Here, Timmins, come out of that," cried Mr. Tenniers. "Here's a gentleman with a pressing funeral order for you."

A little man, so grimed with soot and brick-dust that his features were obscured, extricated himself from the fireplace and knuckled his forelock, though his blinking eyes were on Macgregor.

"Pleased to oblige," he muttered doubtfully.

"I am the brother of the gentleman who died yesterday at Laurel Cottage," said Mr. Raven. "I want just a plain shell in which to take the remains away to-night. Can you manage it?"

"I might, if I was to knock off here at once," Timmins replied none too eagerly. "I should have to go to the cottage and measure him first."

"You need not take that trouble," said the customer. "My brother was very much of my height and build. So long as you leave plenty of room I expect he won't worry about a close fit."

Mr. Timmins chuckled at the callous jest. "That would save time and might make it possible. I'll just run the rule over you and get along to my workshop."

But the Scotch gardener had a word to say about that. Clearing his throat with a noise like a rasping file, he shook his great hairy fist at the village factotum.

"Mon, but ye can do nae such thing," he thundered. "Hae ye no thocht that if ye dinna complete your worrk on yon firehole the day I shall have cold glass the nicht and lose all my plants? The master kens nothing of such matters, and it's me ainself, Donald Macgregor, that has to be guarding him at every turn. And forbye the way this gentleman speaks of his dead brither the coffin making can weel wait till the morrow's morn. If not, there's Smith and Johnson can verra weel be fetched from Basingstoke by telephone."

In the course of his brilliant career Albany Tenniers had played many difficult parts, but it is doubtful if he ever played one which taxed his powers as severely as that which he was called upon to play in the furnace-house of his country retreat—that of pacifying the irate Scotch gardener, of preserving the attitude of generous host, and of reconciling a whole heap of conflicting interests best known to himself. It is to the credit of those powers that he succeeded, and with the lightest of touches.

"You forget yourself, Macgregor," he said sternly—then his beautiful voice softened a little—"though I appreciate your loyalty to me and your anxiety for your beloved blooms."

"And so do I," the cause of the rumpus hastened to add. "Mr. Macgregor is perfectly right. It would be barbarous to allow your plant houses to run any risk for lack of heat. Mr. Timmins, go on with your work, please, and fill my order when you have finished here. As to my sending for any one else that is all nonsense. I always prefer to employ local industry, and you're the man for my money."

As though ashamed of this rather highfalutin speech, Mr. Richard Raven turned with a shrug to his host.

"Pretty cool of me, though, to take that line," he said in a lower key. "It means imposing on you for another night's lodging. Better let me send for the Basingstoke people."

"My dear fellow, cannot you credit me with being a man of my word." Mr. Tenniers laid his hand almost affectionately on his guest's arm. "What more can I say to convince you that you will confer a favour on my sister and myself by staying as long as you please. We are both rather bored by having to stay so long in the country owing to my accident, and your company, despite the deplorable reason for it, is a real boon to us. Bertha said so this morning."

"Then I'll be hanged if I don't take you at your word," the lawyer from Yorkshire replied. "But, see here, my man," he turned to Timmins, "you must let me get away as early as possible to-morrow. If it will expedite matters you had better run the rule over me, as you call it, and save the time and trouble of taking unnecessary measurements."

So in the gloom of the furnace-house Timmins performed that vicarious ceremony on the person of the late Claude Raven's brother, entering the details on the back of a dirty envelope.

"I'll have the corp neatly boxed for travelling by noon to-morrow, sir," he knuckled his forehead again, as he pocketed the stump of pencil.

Head gardener Macgregor's relief was expressed in a sigh like the passing of a low flying Zeppelin. "Then crawl in and make good," he growled.

Mr. Tenniers lingered a minute, till nothing of Timmins was visible but the hobnailed boots and the chink, chink of the trowel had commenced. Then he took his guest by the arm and led him out into the sunshine.

"Conflicting emotions," he purred. "Annoyance and delight. As an actor I ought to be able to express them in a single phrase, but I cannot for the life of me think of anything more subtle than 'Come to lunch.'"

CHAPTER XXVIII.

THE HORROR IN THE ICE PIT.

Muriel Vail was walking along the main road between The Abbey and Laurel Cottage. She carried a lovely wreath of choice white flowers, and it may have been the solemnity of her errand that drew her fair young brows together in a thoughtful frown. For the wreath was to be left at the cottage as a tribute to the memory of the man who had so generously devoted his expert skill to the service of new friends whom he had scarcely known for a full month.

Shortly before reaching her destination she espied the gaunt form of Mrs. Marazion coming towards her. It was within five minutes of the discharged housekeeper's abandonment by Mr. Tenniers at the gate of Laurel Cottage in favour of the more congenial society of Mr. Richard Raven. Of the two converging pedestrians Miss Vail was the first to perceive the other, and she noticed that the latter was walking with downcast eyes as though deeply meditating, and with her thin lips curled in a sinister smile.

"The old cat looks as though she had caught a mouse," the girl murmured to herself. "I wonder what strikes her as so funny after getting the sack yesterday, and I wonder if she will cut me."

Mrs. Marazion soon solved the latter question. So deep were her reflections that it was not till they were nearly abreast that she saw the young lady from the Abbey, and then her demeanour was peculiar. The smile suddenly vanished, she fixed a stony stare on the wreath the girl was carrying, and passed on with her nose in the air without a sign of recognition. But after she had gone by she emitted a sort of cackling noise, resembling the angry bark of a toy terrier.

Amused, and yet puzzled, Muriel proceeded on her way, and knocked at the door of Laurel Cottage. It was opened to her with the swift silence with which Yusuf Ben Argil performed all his duties, and the brown-faced man took the wreath that she proffered. His black orbs gleamed like coals of fire as his lean fingers closed on the wreath, and there was comprehension in the glance he shot at its donor. Yusuf evidently understood the meaning of the token, and appreciated it accordingly.

Her mission fulfilled, Muriel returned to the road, but instead of retracing her steps to the Abbey she stood for some time as if in doubt which way she should go. Finally she struck off at a brisk pace in an opposite direction from that whence she had come—that is to say she followed in the footsteps of Albany Tenniers and Richard Raven towards The Towers, though they had now for some time disappeared round a bend in the road.

Whether or no they would have been still in view when she reached the bend is immaterial for the simple reason that she never reached it. A hundred yards on the hither side there was a stile in the hedge, giving access to a public footpath leading across meadows and ploughed fields to a distant hamlet. Muriel climbed the stile and walked rapidly along the path to where, a quarter of a mile farther on, it skirted the high brick wall that enclosed the grounds of The Towers.

"Baby! Oh, be mine, my sweet one!"
Trilled the troubadour so gay,
But she essayed a tearful answer,
"[illegible], I grieve to say;
Cold to-night, oh, Guy! my sweetest:
Bring the Woods' Great Peppermint Cure,
Then"—"That is all thou needest," [illegible] bow, Guy Latour.—Advt.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

TRICKY WIND AT RANDWICK.

A north-easterly breeze blew throughout Saturday afternoon over the Randwick Range, and most of the riflemen were set a task to master its vagaries. There was not much strength in the wind, but at times it was decidedly tricky. As a consequence the scoring generally was not on the high side. There were, however, some steady patches, and these were availed of by the men who were fortunate enough to be shooting at the time. All of the targets were in use, most of the clubs utilising the medium-distance mounds. There was an exceptionally large attendance.

Some of the highest scores registered at the different distances were:—900yds. (36in bull's-eye), 33 out of 35, by G. W. Pardonne (Yorkshire Society). 800yds. (36in), a seven-shot "possible," by Lieut. F. L. Claye (Yorkshire Society). 700yds. (20in), 59 out of 70, by D. Patience (Commonwealth Naval Dockyard). 600yds. (20in), 68 out of 70 (including a seven-shot "possible"), each by W. Wellman and C. Jewell (Randwick L. I.). 500yds. (20in), a ten-shot "possible," by W. Brophy (Wunderlich); 67 out of 70, by E. Eddie (Auburn), and by A. C. Marshall and G. H. Williams (Rockdale). 400yds. (20in), 69 out of 70, by W. Henderson (Callan Park); 47 out of 50, by J. P. Lucas (Haberfield). 300yds. (8in), 62 out of 70, by F. Withers (Belmore), and by P. M'Intyre (Waverley). 200yds. (8in), 66 out of 70, by O. J. Bonner and W. Coster (Strathfield-Homebush): the latter's score including a seven-shot "possible," a seven shot "possible" by E. A. Lawrence of the same club. 100yds. (8in), 66 out of 70 (including a seven-shot "possible"), by R. T. Hamblin; seven-shot "possibles," each by B. E. Hamblin, J. Edgers, W. J. Pope, and A. E. Austin, all of Marrickville Club.

Members of the Yorkshire Society Club fired seven shots each at 800 and 900 yds. in deciding the final shoot for the N.R.A. medal, which was won by Lieut. F. L. Claye, with an aggregate score of 131 points. The top scorers on the day were G. W. Pardonne (29, 33—62), Captain C. Hobrovde (30, 31—61), and J. J. Hammond (31, 30—61). Lieutenant Claye registered a "possible" from the shorter distance, and 22 from 900yds., finishing eighth on the list.

At 700yds. the Commonwealth Naval Dockyard Club put in a 14-shot practice shoot, the best score (59) being obtained by D. Patience. G. Pittaway, T. Goodall, and J. H. Marr were next on the list, with one point less.

From the 600yds. mound 27 members of the Parramatta Club took part in a 14-shot two-stage N.R.A. medal shoot. The list was headed by F. D. Niblett, with 33, 34—67, R. H. Walker (31, 34—65). R. W. Knox (33, 32—65), and A. Brooks (32, 33—65), coming next. A teams match, ten men a side, best eight scores to count, 14 shots, was fired between the Concord and Eastern Suburbs clubs, the former side winning by 500 points to 495. For the winners C. Vacchini (67) and H. Sommers and E. Buckland (66 each) top-scored, H. A. Salter (66), T. W. Renwick (65), and A. Mason (63) heading the loser's card. Thirty-two members of the Randwick Literary Institute Club competed in the third club shoot of the quarter, 14 shots in two stages. The best scores were 33 and a "possible" by W. Wellman, a "possible" and 33 by C. Jewell, and 33, 34—67 by H. Gilderthorp. Sixteen members obtained 60 points or more. W. Wellman was the spoon-winner in the A grade, and F. Ross in the B grade. A similar shoot was decided by the North Sydney Club, 26 members taking part. The most creditable scores were put up by J. Paine (32, 33—65), Newton (32 in each stage), W. Broomham (a double 31), and Jones and J. Lenton (30, 32—62). The Legion of Frontiersmen carried out its monthly handicap shoot, 14 shots in two stages. The best score off the rifle was made by Q.M.S. Greet (32, 32—64), but when the allowances were adjusted the card was headed by Tpr. Hopkinson, with (13), 30, 28—70, and Tpr. R. Robinson, with (15), 27, 29—70; Q.M.S. Greet, with a handicap of 2 points, filling third position. The Randwick and Press clubs held a combined teams' shoot, the former club supplying the coaches. Four teams of nine men competed, each man being handicapped. R. M. Fox's team won, scoring 591 points, towards which C. Fisher, with 7 points' allowance, contributed 31, 33—70. J. R. Wallace's team, with 582 points, was second, the top scorer being R. J. Steel (Press), with (12), 29, 30—70. B. Heath, with (20), 26, 28—70, headed the scores made by P. Heath's team (560 points), which finished third. F. Master's team, with 571 points, was fourth; W. Downs, with (4), 33, 32—69, and A. Semple (Press), with (15), 22, 29—66, putting up the best scores. W. Downs was the spoon-winner for Randwick. In a 14-shot two-stage club shoot by the Petersham Club, the best scores were 28, 31—59 by H. A. Daniel, 27, 29—56 by A. W. Daniel, and 29, 26—55 by H. D. Dircks.

At 500 yards Auburn club carried out a 14-shot club shoot, E. Eddie topping the list with three points less than the "possible." W. C. McNab, with 64, F. Price, with 63, and P. Quirk, with 62, were the next best. Paterson, Laing, and Bluce's section of the warehousemen's club put in a 14-shot handicap practice shoot. The card was headed by G. McDonald, with (12), 60—70; H. Chapman, with (22), 52—70; and A. Collins, with (22), 40—70. Twenty-two members took part. Wunderlich club decided its final club shoot of the quarter, 10 shots. W. Brophy (4) registered a "possible," and was on the top of the list when the allowances were adjusted, the next best being T. W. Unsworthy, with (4), 49—50, and H. Robinson, with (2), 49—50. In a practice shoot by the Rockdale club, A. C. Marshall and G. H. Williams, who headed the card, each scored 33, 34—67, F. H. Partridge, with 32, 34—66, following.

Haberfield Club utilised the 400 and 500 mounds, 10 shots at each distance, in deciding a club shoot. The best scores were obtained by G. P. Lucas (47, 46—93), W. A. Harris (44, 45—89), and L. Stewart (42, 44—86).

At 400 yards Callan Park Club held a 14-shot club shoot, the card being headed by W. Henderson, who dropped but one point. H. McGrath, with 66, and R. Kirkpatrick, with 64, put up the next best totals. A teams' match was fired by members of the Balmain club, ten men a side, 14 shots each, the teams being chosen by Captain F. MR. HUGHES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Out from the babel of voices—both from press and people—in condemnation of the policy of the Federal Government given through the hands of the Prime Minister at the recent opening of the Federal Parliament, let the voice of a Liberal, and a strong conscriptionist, be heard in justification of the man who to-day seems to have fallen so soon from the high pedestal of fame which he had attained in the minds of so many Australian people since his return from the mother country. I have no personal touch with the Prime Minister, and only offer an expression of opinion from a view as it occurs to me.

The recent courageous speeches of the Prime Minister from the four corners of the British Empire have proclaimed without words his personal advocacy of compulsory service, and no man ever more strongly expressed this, without actually committing the expression to plain words, and there is not the slightest doubt in the mind of any man in Great Britain or Australia, that, as far as the Prime Minister himself is concerned, knowing as he so well does, the exigencies of the position as it exists to-day, there is no more confirmed conscriptionist than he is.

Pause now, and consider the position. Mr. Hughes is a Labour member, and as such I presume, signed all the pledges required by that party in order to secure the endorsement of the P.L.L. Those who condemn to-day should ponder over the possible result had Mr. Hughes followed the course that they expected him to take. There is every probability that he would have been relegated to a seat in the House without a portfolio. In view of the value of this man, his courage, his brilliancy, his undoubted statesmanship—is such a thing desirable at this particular period? Do these people who condemn to-day wish to see some Liberal or other Labour member as Prime Minister of Australia?

I have no doubt in my mind that Mr. Hughes considered all these phases, and as a true patriot he decided his course, knowing full well that his action, after all his passionate speeches, must receive nothing but adverse comments and condemnation from many of those people who lauded him from the four corners of the British Empire as one of the greatest Imperialists of the present century. Imagine the sacrifice. Yet this man calmly makes it, feeling that by his great strength he might yet bring his party in line with his own feelings, and so eventually consummate what I am sure is the dearest wish of his life, and assist the mother country during this great struggle. We may rest assured that not one minute will be lost by him to try and expedite and bring into effect this Act that every true Briton to-day should earnestly sigh for.

The papers tell us from Melbourne that Mr. Hughes now goes on a mission to all the Labour unions of Australia without loss of time, to try and convert them to his views. Let every man who condemns to-day show his patriotism and his keenness by assisting Mr. Hughes in his mission, and by trying to convert those whose expressed opinions prove them to be opposed to conscription.

This is plainly our duty, and I feel certain that if the case as stated in this letter only has the consideration of those who condemn Mr. Hughes they will try and realise that, like everything else in life, there are two sides to the question. The material side is not one that need give the Prime Minister any trouble; for it seems to-day quite easy for him to leave us and go to the motherland, and there receive an appointment that would bring him more grist and honour, and, further, would give to him, when this war is over, a permanent remuneration for life than he is never likely to get from the hands of the Australian public.

I am, etc.,

NEW CLUB.

RETURNED SOLDIERS.

DUTY OF PARLIAMENT AND THE STATE.

On Saturday afternoon the Premier, Mr. Holman, opened the new club-rooms of the Returned Soldiers' Association of New South Wales, at Macdonell House, Pitt-street. A golden key was presented by Mr. H. D. McIntosh, president of the association, and the Anzac Memorial Band played "God Save the King." It was explained by Mr. William Brooks, ex-president, that the premises now occupied by the returned soldiers had been provided and furnished by the State Government. In connection with the proposed erection of an Anzac memorial hall, Mr. McIntosh stated that the committee had collected £10,000, which, with a Government subsidy of £10,000, would give them a start of £20,000 towards the establishment of a permanent home for returned soldiers.

The assemblage included Colonel Owen (representing the State Commandant), Brigadier-General Ramaciotti, the Lord Mayor (Alderman Meagher), Dr. Nash, M.L.C.; Mr. Fuller, M.L.A. (representing Mr. Wade, M.L.A., leader of the Opposition); Sir Thomas Anderson Stuart, Senior Chaplain Dean Talbot, and Mr. William Brooks (ex-president of the R.S.A.).

Mr. Holman said he had met the immediate needs of the association by obtaining temporary premises. Later on they might be in a position to face the problem of establishing a permanent home. The toasts which were proposed were "The King," "The Federal and State Parliaments," and "The Returned Soldiers' Association."

The Premier said those things which affected the soldiers who were back among them must be dealt with by the State Government without delay, and in no grudging spirit. (Cheers). He ventured to believe that all the members of the New South Wales Parliament would support the Government in any crisis like the present, and that they would look in a broad and liberal spirit at the requirements of the unprecedented condition of things. Their Parliament had been and would continue to be the friend of the returned soldier. (Cheers). On Tuesday next it would be his duty to lay certain proposals before Parliament in the financial statement, and he proposed to outline the steps which he though they ought to take to secure not merely the present comfort and convenience of their returned soldiers, but also their permanent independence in some provision for their future. (Cheers). Only by placing these duties and these obligations in the hands of a permanent authority, such as the State, could there be any permanent guarantee as to the future of the gallant lads who had come back to them disabled, or the widows and orphans of those who had fallen. In the prevailing enthusiasm no sacrifice was too great; no task too laborious. It was easy to cherish the illusion that the present state of things would continue, and that their returned soldiers should rest content with the assurance of public sympathy and voluntary benefactions. They could not rely upon a wave of enthusiasm. This, he said without any spirit of cynicism. As the years went by it would be absolutely impossible to rely upon schemes of voluntary assistance. Committees would be broken up, and the public would have other claims to consider. "In England," Mr. Holman continued, "heroes of the Crimea have had to beg for bread, and men who were in the charge at Balaclava ended their days in a workhouse. It is not a change in sentiment that I fear in this country. What is in my mind is that ten years from now there will be little or nothing to sustain and stimulate public sentiment and the generosity of individuals in regard to our returned soldiers. (Applause). Let us now, while everyone knows and feels how much we owe to our returned soldiers, write the contract, sign it, and seal it, so that it can never be departed from. (Cheers). Let the record of our admiration and our gratitude be placed upon the Statute Book to show that we recognise our obligations to those who, by service and sacrifice of the noblest kind, have helped to protect our liberties and preserve our institutions. (Cheers.)

Mr. Fuller, M.L.A., speaking as deputy-leader of the Opposition, said he was prepared to do his utmost so that those who had done so much for them should not suffer in any way. The brave Australians who had won a name for themselves and for their country went into active service, not as conscript soldiers, but as patriotic volunteers. (Cheers) The magnificent work of their soldiers would be to some extent undone unless within the next few months thousands and thousands more of Australians responded to the call of duty. (Cheers).

The Lord Mayor expressed the hope that the Government would set apart one of the finest sites in the city for the erection of a great Anzac memorial hall.

Colonel Owen, who was enthusiastically cheered, and Mr. William Brooks also spoke.

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH.

£7000 FROM THE STATE GOVERNMENT.

The Premier states that the State Government has placed £5000 upon the current Estimates for science research work, and an additional £2000 for further experiments for the extermination of the prickly pear pest. Included among the members of the New South Wales Public Service are men of high scientific attainment. Mr. J. H. Maiden, Curator of the Botanic Gardens, has made an exhaustive study of the eucalypts of Australia. Mr. Baker, Curator of the Technological Museum, and his assistant, Mr. Smith, have for some time past been conducting experiments in eucalyptus oils, in Australian marble and other building stones, and in the properties of Australian timbers. In Queensland scientific experiments have been conducted for some time past in connection with the eradication of prickly pear. A laboratory is now to be erected at Moree.

The Education Department has secured the services of a distinguished scientist for the Technical College. He is specially qualified to organise and conduct instruction in industrial chemistry. Plans have been prepared for a building laid out on the lines of the splendid industrial chemical laboratory recently completed at Columbia University. Within the next two or three years numbers of young men will be turned out from the chemistry department of the Technical College.

ST. ENOCH'S HONOUR ROLL.

Major John Mars, at St. Enoch's Presbyterian Church, on Sunday, unveiled a roll of honour inscribed with 72 names of young parishioners who had gone to the front. Several of them have died in battle. The men who have enlisted include three sets of three brothers and nine sets of two brothers.

The special service in the morning was largely attended. The local cadets and boy scouts were present. Chaplain A. Williams said the men at the front were fighting so that we might retain our land, our loved ones, and our liberties. It was to the self sacrifice of these brave men that we owed peace in our own land. And yet, in spite of this, there was a certain section who denounced the war as a war of capitalists. People were going on as usual with pleasure and self-indulgence. Was it for such that the men whom they had honoured to-day had offered their lives?

NEXT-OF-KIN.

The next of kin of Private J. De O. Hodge is requested to communicate with the officer in charge, Base Records, Melbourne. The present address of Mrs. A. Rice, formerly of Liverpool-road, Darlinghurst Heights, is also desired by the officer in charge, Base Records, Melbourne, as communications to the address recorded as the next of kin of Lance corporal F. S. Rice, have been returned.

C.E.M.S. SERVICE.

A church service in connection with the annual conference of the Church of England Men's Society was held at St. John's Church, Glebe Point, on Saturday afternoon, when an address on "The Future of the C.E.M.S." was delivered by the Rev. Principal Davies, of Moore College, and the Rev. T. Quigley, B.A., spoke on "War Problems."

Read for yourself how Lane's Emulsion
saved little Ella Collison

"I am delighted to be able to tell you that Lane's Emulsion has completely cured my daughter Ella of bronchial-asthma.

When she was eighteen months old she got bronchitis, and after the attack if she got the slightest cold she had further attacks, which finally developed into bronchial-asthma, and I had to take her seven times in seven months in a dying state to a doctor. I have had her to four different doctors, and although they relieved her for a time they could not effect a cure.

I read of your Emulsion in a paper, so thought I would try it, and I am more than glad that I did. When I began to give her Lane's Emulsion last February she weighed 27lb., and after taking five bottles of Emulsion her weight was 33lb. I only gave her six bottles in all to effect a permanent cure. Before this she was so delicate that we dare not let her put her bare feet on the floor, or damp her hair; in fact we were almost afraid to change her clothes, and now she can run barefooted and play in the rain, so I can safely say she is cured.

I always recommend your Emulsion. Ella is a living advertisement for its powers. I hope you will use this letter to let the public know what Lane's Emulsion has done for my little girl.

My testimony will show what Lane's Emulsion will do for others, and it must be pleasant to take, for our little one will drink it out of the bottle. I enclose a photograph; not a very good one, and I am afraid you will think she has one arm only, but I can assure you she has two very mischievous ones. You will also see that she keeps the bottle close to her yet. Thanking you and hoping your Emulsion will soon be even more widely known."

I am, yours very gratefully,
(Mrs.) E. COLLISON.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

The general entry for the A.J.C. Spring meeting closes at 4 p.m. to-day with the secretary, Mr. C. W. Cropper, and at the same hour first forfeit falls due for the Derby, Epsom Handicap, the Metropolitan, Breeders' Plate, and Gimcrack Stakes.

The Richmond Trotting Club holds a meeting this afternoon, and the programme of six events includes the Richmond Hundred, in which a number of good performers are engaged. The reunion takes place on the Londonderry racecourse, and a special train for the convenience of horses and passengers leaves the Central Railway Station at 9.52 a.m. The first race is timed to start at 1.30 p.m.

Entries for the Rosehill Spring meeting, on the 16th inst., close at 4 p.m. to-day with the secretary, Mr. Geo. W. S. Rowe. The five events for which nominations are invited carry in the aggregate 775 sovs., of which 250 sovs go to the Spring Stakes, a w.f.a. event, with penalties and allowances, run over nine furlongs; 150 sovs. to the Rosehill Handicap, and 125 sovs. to each of the other events. First forfeit for the Rosehill Guineas also falls due at 4 p.m.

The programme for the Cup meeting of the Menangle Park Racing Club, on the 12th inst. demands the attention of trainers and owners to-day, for at 4 p.m. entries close with the secretary, Mr. Edwin Woodbury. The prize-money totals 500 sovs., of which 200 sovs. endow the Menangle Park Cup, run over nine furlongs.

At the conclusion of the racing at Newcastle on Saturday several two-year-olds in training at Broadmeadows were given a public trial with colours up, and great interest was manifested in the first effort of these baby racehorses. Ten youngsters were started in a three-furlongs journey, and the places were filled by three Tressadys. The winner turned up in Thana's brother, Modesto, a colt by Tressady from Chaste, owned by Mr. William Brown, who head-beat a Tressady filly owned by Mr. C. J. Britten, and a Tressady colt from Sagitta, owned by Mr. Buxton, was a length off third.

Mr. C. H. Allen writes to say the Maitland Cup winner, Lady Blacksand, was not imported. Her owner, Mr. B. Allen, purchased her dam, Centre, in England, in foal to Blacksand, and she was foaled at Dartmouth.

Mr. Jerome Dowling, of Summer Hill, one of the best-known men in Sydney turf circles, has been officially advised that his son, E. A. Dowling, has been wounded in the Egypt desert fighting.

Mr. B. Allen's mare Belove has produced a fine filly foal at the Dartmouth Stud to his imported horse Powhatan. Evelyn B. (by Bobadil), a well-known suburban performer, is responsible for a colt, as is Idol. Belove is a very handsome Haut Brion mare, whom, it will be remembered, is a Hobart Cup winner, and was second in the Melbourne Cup to Posinatus.

Mr. Tom Payten visited his farm, Alfalfa, near Canowindra, early in the week, and reports the Lachlan country in an extraordinary condition of richness, but the floods have played havoc with the fences, and has spoilt thousands of acres of lucerne. Payten, who has had charge of Dr. Ewan Frazer's stud mares and young stock since he has been an owner of thoroughbreds, went to Alfalfa to arrange matters for the sale of the doctor's blood stock, and several others, which is to take place at Canowindra at the end of the month. He reports all these horses in fine condition.

Messrs. Wm. Inglis and Son announce their annual spring sale of thoroughbred stock at T. Payten's Newmarket stables, Randwick, on the 9th prox, the Monday after the A.J.C. Spring Meeting. Already a number of lots have been catalogued, including blood mares, race horses, and untried stock by such highly successful sires as Royal Artillery, Grafton (imp.), Bright Steel (imp.), Cooltrim (imp.), and Prudent King (imp.). Intending vendors will facilitate the compilation and issue of catalogues by forwarding particulars to the auctioneers as early as possible.

Our Brisbane correspondent telegraphs that owing to the heavy rain, Tattersall's Club spring meeting has been postponed from Saturday until Monday.

RANDWICK TRAINING NOTES.

WALLACE ISINGLASS GALLOPS WELL.

BEE PUTS UP A TRACK RECORD.

Last year James Barden trained Wallace Isinglass for the Derby with plenty of lengthy work, which he is of opinion affected his sprinting powers, but this season—since he got the horse into fine bodily condition—he has treated him to a succession of short gallops, with a view to livening him up and improving his speed. On Thursday Wallace Isinglass cantered about a mile, and came home full speed over three furlongs, which was followed by a second canter and a half-mile sprint, and was an improvement on the first from a time test point of view. On Saturday morning Wallace Isinglass was galloped 6 furlongs. Beginning from almost a standing start, his rider, C. Barden, squeezed into him from the start, and rattled off the mark, with the result that the horse ran the journey in 1m 18½s, and did it fully three-parts way out from the inner fence on the course proper, which at the time was heavy with dew. It was the best sprint of this season. A while back Bee ran six furlongs in 1m 18s, but she did it on the "magpie" track.

Sweet Corn and Sasanoff, both smart gallopers, ran six furlongs in 1m 20s, and kept well out, and later their stable-mates, Gold Painting, Painting, and Cheloma, ran the same distance in 1m 22s, a performance Three Star improved upon. Three Star ran seven furlongs in 1m 33½s, and the last six in 1m 21s. He beat Clydeside by four lengths, and Gal, who was outpaced all the way, was several lengths further back. Kingsburgh and Court Jester went seven furlongs, but they were not all out to run it in 1m 35½s. Old Gigandra left six furlongs behind in 1m 22s, and Nombi beat Merriwa and another over that distance in 1m 21s.

Eric Connolly was one of the earliest out with Costello, who moved along at half pace for about six furlongs, after which he livened up for a similar distance, which he ran, with plenty in hand, in 1m 23½s. Two Blues and Merimee did some three-quarter pacing, and finished up with a short sprint, and Hopfield, pulling his rider out of the saddle, bowled along as if the earth belonged to him. Grand Fleet, Wallalo, Meroo, Alasco, Polycrates, Taquisara, Tintometer, St. Rosaline, Cetigne, Rouen, Gaitee Queen, and numerous others performed useful tasks. On the previous afternoon R. O'Connor gave Polycrates a lesson at the starting gate, and the Englishman behaved well. Common Law accounted for a mile in 1m 50s, but this was put in the shade by Ulva's Isle and Rushford, who beat Gadabout by several lengths over nine furlongs, and ran the last eight in 1m 47½s.

After breakfast Bee put up the record of the season for a mile. With the assistance of Briarpatch over the last five furlongs, she went at exactly the same rate of speed as Wallace Isinglass. She ran the first half in 51½s, and made 1m 44½s for the mile. To equal her gallop for the full mile Wallace Isinglass would have had to run the concluding two furlongs in 26s, a heavy task, which, in the opinion of not a few, is outside the big horse's powers. Bee's compatriot, Kilboy, ran six furlongs in 1m 20s, and badly beat his stable mate, Silent Way. Eastcourt and Baldpate were a second slower over that journey, but Carlita equalled Kilboy's time performance. Woorak worked easily. Bandolier ran seven furlongs at a fair pace, and Agathon covered that distance in 1m 34s. Fantaric and The Christian Brother traversed 11 furlongs in 2m 29s, and a mile in 1m 52s went down to Altaru and Ukuwela, while Cagou beat Flavindin over that distance in 1m 50s.

VICTORIAN SPORTING NOTES.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

If Cyklon is to win the A.J.C. Metropolitan he will have to show a vast improvement on the form he displayed in the Memsie Stakes at Caulfield yesterday. He ran much below expectations, and is either not forward enough in condition or has turned cunning. He has done a fair amount of work on the track, and Scobie expected him to nearly win yesterday, though he thought Wedge, who has had a few races lately, might beat him. The pair cut at each other from the start, and three furlongs from home Cyklon was beaten. Lewis did not ride him out when he saw that he had no chance, but Cyklon apparently was quite satisfied to retire. In the past he has run well when fresh, but it was the opposite yesterday. He looked nice, and that is about all that can be said in his favour. Wedge did not shape like a stayer.

Another three-year-old, King Kora, who had an allowance, ran a good race, and battled out the finish stoutly. It was only in the last few strides that his stable companion, the unthought-of Prince Bardolph, got the better of him. William the Silent is coming on, and he was not far behind the placed horses, and Mudros beat Wedge. Prince Bardolph has the same weight in both the Caulfield Cup and Melbourne Cup, viz., 8st 8lb.

Prince Bardolph is likely, all going well, to take a prominent part in any event in which he competes this season.

King's Bounty, the winner of the Doona Trial yesterday, has 6st 7lb in the Caulfield Cup and 6st 9lb in the Melbourne Cup, while he is in the Caulfield Guineas and Victoria Derby. There is an impression that Mudros, who is in the same stable, is a better stayer than King's Bounty. Mudros only ran fairly well in the Memsie Stakes, in which King Kora (in receipt of 5lb) was beaten by a neck. At Flemington a fortnight previously King's Bounty gave King Kora 3lb over a mile, and ran him to half a length. All three may be described as promising Derby candidates. Then Ettefred and Bucklaw may be the best of our three-year-olds over a distance, as Wedge did not shape like a stayer yesterday; while Lord Bobadil, about whom a high opinion has hitherto been held, did not come up to expectations in the Warriston Welter.

Grand Alliance and Santarem ran promisingly in the Doona Trial, and both may do better as the season advances; but nothing so far in Victoria looks like proving a serious three-year-old rival to the Sydney colt Wolaroi, providing the latter reproduces his two-year-old form.

Sparklight and Ranger broke through the barrier before the start of the Warriston Welter. Sparklight's rider was dragged off, and as the mare could not be readily caught the field was sent away without her. She was in the starter's hands.

J. Lynch proposes to leave for Sydney during the week with Windelsham (imp.), Tosson, King's Chancellor, Pretty Bobby, and a two-year-old.

MOOREFIELD RACING CLUB.

SEPTEMBER MEETING.

SECRET SERVICE WINS FLYING HANDICAP.

COAT O' MAIL THE CLUB HANDICAP.

Favoured with fine, bright, springlike weather, the September reunion of the Moorefield Racing Club on Saturday attracted a large attendance. The track was good going, and the general arrangements were up to the customary standard. In the majority of instances the fields were large, and the sport was of a highly interesting character. Wagering was pretty brisk, and though a couple of favourites and two well-backed horses were successful the wins of Secret Service in the Flying Handicap and Albuna in the Rockdale Mile left a fair margin of profit to the layers of odds. The only mishaps that occurred were in connection with the Hurdle Race, in which five of the competitors came to grief, leaving only enough standing to fill the places, but neither riders nor horses met with serious injury—Freeland and Clifton, the riders of Compromise and Burrabogi respectively, receiving shock, while Morton, who had the mount on Breeza Maid, had some slight cuts on the face. The stipendiary stewards found fault with what they considered clumsy horsemanship on the part of J. N. Russell, who rode Leadstar in the same race, and informed him that a repetition would lead to a recommendation on their part for the cancellation of his license. The general arrangements were ably supervised by the secretary, Mr. H. R. Evans. The details of the racing are subjoined:—

HURDLE RACE of 100 sovs; second horse 10 sovs, and third horse 5 sovs from prize. 2m.

Mr. W. J. Rickett's b g Sweet Step, by Cakewalk—Sadness, 6yrs, 10st 9lb (R. M'Sweeny) 1
Mr. M. Smythe's blk g Leadstar, aged, 9st 6lb (J. N. Russell) 2
Mr. E. J. Gilham's b g Ennispona, aged, 9st 8lb, including 3lb over (H. M'Keown) 3

Other starters: Compromise, 10st 9lb (J. Freeland); Kurnalpi, 10st 7lb (A. Foreman); Purton, 9st (J. M'Evoy); Burrabogi, 9st (J. Clifton); Breeza Maid, 9st (C. Morton).

Betting: 6 to 4 v Sweet Step, 5 to 2 v Burrabogi, 10 to 1 v Kurnalpi, 12 to 1 v Compromise, 25 to 1 each v Leadstar and Ennispona.

Compromise and Ennispona were first to show out, while Sweet Step and Purton were slow to find their legs. Rounding the swamp bend, Ennispona took charge, and opening up the back stretch was four lengths clear from Compromise, while Purton lost his rider. Compromise ran to the front near the half-mile post, and flew the obstacle at that point with Ennispona at his heels, and they were followed by Sweet Step, Burrabogi, and Ennispona. Burrabogi moved up next to Compromise at the bend, but came to grief over the St. Leger hurdle, where Kurnalpi also lost his rider. Compromise passed the stand, and raced down the hill four lengths from Sweet Step, after whom, at lengthy intervals, came Ennispona, Breeza Maid, and Compromise, with Sweet Step four lengths away, and 20 in front of Leadstar and Ennispona. Compromise led up hill and round the bend, but Sweet Step headed him as they turned for home. Compromise fell over the St. Leger hurdle, leaving Sweet Step with a lengthy advantage, and he won by nearly a furlong from Leadstar, who beat Ennispona by a dozen lengths. Time, 4m 1s.

THREE-YEARS OLD HANDICAP of 100 sovs; second horse 10 sovs, and third horse 5 sovs from prize, 6f.

From a straggling start Court Favourite was first to show, and she passed the five furlongs post closely followed by Prying Lassie, Admiral Beatty, and Faithful Laddie. Near the half-mile post Faithful Laddie ran to the front and passed that point succeeded by Court Favourite, Admiral Beatty, John L.D., and Cool Cross, and as they raced up the hill Faithful Laddie and Court Favourite came round the bend with Admiral Beatty at their girths, and so they turned for home, but Admiral Beatty had the race won at the distance, and passed the post with Faithful Laddie at his heels, and Court Favourite half a length away. Then, almost in line, came Scythian, Queen Clarit, John L.D., Prying Lassie, Cool Cross, and War Tax, with Lord Marsh in the rear. Time, 1m 17s.

FLYING HANDICAP of 100 sovs; second horse 10 sovs and third horse 5 sovs from prize, 6f.

Mr. A. G. White's b h Secret Service, by Flavus (imp.)—Settlement, 5yrs, 8st 4lb (F. Foley) 1

Crockett); St. Rosaline, 6st 7lb (C. Barden); Apenine, 6st 7lb (W. Pike).

Betting: 4 to 1 each v Delinacre and Reval, 6 to 1 each v La Balfour and Petalster, 8 to 1 v St. Rosaline, 12 to 1 each v Shrill and Secret Service, 14 to 1 each v Rualma and Viburnum, 20 to 1 each v others.

Shrill jumped off in front, and at the end of the first furlong had St. Rosaline at her girths, and then followed, at length intervals, Delinacre, Secret Service, La Balfour, and Linera. Passing the half-mile post, Shrill was leading by a length and half from Delinacre, after whom came St. Rosaline, Linera, and Secret Service. Rounding the bend Delinacre ranged up level with the mare, the pair being four lengths clear from St. Rosaline, Secret Service, and Linera; and so they swung into line for home. Delinacre shook off Shrill at the distance, where Secret Service was coming very fast, and, getting his head in front at the half-distance, won by a length from Shrill, who in the last few strides beat Delinacre by a head for second place. Viburnum and Reval were next, followed by Petalster, Linera, St. Rosaline, and a big bunch; while the last two were Huthwaite and Barraconda. Time, 1m 16s.

KOGARAH STAKES of 100 sovs.; second horse 10 sovs., and third 5 sovs from prize. 1m.

Betting: 5 to 2 v Tony, 4 to 1 v Quarale, 5 to 1 v Thrace, 6 to 1 v Volt Ilario, 10 to 1 each v Khaf and Longacre, 25 to 1 each v Miss Squires and others.

Thrace and Miss Squires moved off in front, but when they had settled into their strides Khaf ran through, and rounded the swamp-bend with Longacre, Tony, Miss Squires, Volt Ilario, and Vareas in pursuit. Khaf opened up the back stretch two lengths from Tony, Longacre, Miss Squires, and Volt Ilario, and so they raced up the hill. Three furlongs from home Tony headed Khaf, and the pair were followed round the bend by Miss Squires, Longacre, and Quarale. Tony turned for home well clear from Quarale, who came on the inside, caught him at the distance, and beat him home by a neck. Miss Squires was four lengths off third, and a like distance in front of Mandento, after whom came Khaf and Nortonio, with Mountain Bard last. Time, 1m 42½s.

CLUB HANDICAP of 100 sovs., second horse 10 sovs., and third horse 5 sovs from prize. 1¼m.

Lady Clarence and Coat-o'-Mail were smartest off the mark, and the latter led down the hill and round the swamp bend four lengths from Lady Clarence, who was succeeded at length intervals by Lady Minnie, Cesarius, and Thurnham. Coat-o'-Mail increased his advantage to six lengths at the five furlongs post, and was followed by Lady Clarence and Lady Minnie, who were a couple of lengths in advance of Cesarius and Plenty. Lady Clarence was cut out at the half-mile post, where Coat-o'-Mail was three lengths in front of Lady Minnie and Cesarius, after whom came Lady Clarence and Plenty. Going up the hill, Cesarius moved up to the heels of the leader, and was succeeded, a length and a half away, by Lady Minnie and Plenty, with Pretty Mary at the head of the others. That order was preserved round the bend and into the home stretch, where Coat-o'-Mail drew away, and won by five lengths from Pretty Mary, who had Cesarius at her girths. Mount Alf, Plenty, and Lady Minnie were almost in line a length away, with Tea Tere, Bay Rum, Thurnham, and Lady Clarence at their heels. Time, 2m 8½s.

Kolapore was first to move, but was soon headed by St. Rosaline, who showed the way round the swamp bend a couple of lengths from Spring Girl, who was followed by Sweet Malt and Kolapore. Racing along the back St. Rosaline increased her advantage to five lengths at the half-mile post from Spring Girl, after whom came Sweet Malt, Royal Parade, and Albuna. Sweet Malt moved into second place as they ran up the hill, and St. Rosaline came round the bend three lengths from Albuna, Sweet Malt, and My Palm. Torbane shot ahead at the turn, and led into the straight from Maltravers, Andelosia, Vibratory, Marcellus, and Celonia. FARM AND STATION.

IRRIGATION FARMING.

Irrigation farmers on the Murray in South Australia are realising the value of mixed farming. They are inclining to grow fruit and vines, some lucerne and hay, and keep some live stock in addition. Experience is teaching that it is not wise to depend on one line of production, and this is a fact that wants to be more generally recognised where men are farming small areas. Owing to the high price of sheep at the present time, and the prospect of same continuing, some attention is being given to running sheep on the irrigation areas referred to. At a recent meeting of the Waikerie branch of the South Australian Agricultural Bureau an irrigation farmer contended that with the high price ruling for sheep, and no prospect of cheaper mutton, it was time the settlers considered the advisableness of supplying their own requirements. He recommended that every settler should fence off a plot of lucerne, not more than one chain wide, but as long as possible, with hurdles in front as well as hurdles to follow up, so that the lucerne would have every chance to grow, and bloating would be prevented. A plot 1 x 2 chains should be large enough, he considered, to start a dozen sheep, but if settlers combined to take half a truck, or a whole truck, six sheep would be sufficient for a start. He suggested getting 6-tooth wethers for a start. Another settler said he had obtained better results by cutting the lucerne and feeding it to the sheep than by feeding off. He advised growers to use merino sheep, reared in grass country, for feeding off grass growing in orchards. As a striking instance of the value of lucerne for sheep he stated that in the dry year of 1914 he kept 500 sheep on five acres of lucerne for three months, and during that period no other feed was supplied to them. The lucerne was cut and fed to the stock. He did not claim that they were fattened, but they were kept alive, and the same plot also fed a large number of horses and cattle. The men who advocate cutting and feeding lucerne to stock are on the soundest lines. The way affairs are trending the value of growing crops and hand-feeding stock will become more and more recognised in this country. The possibilities in this direction with a small area of fertile country have not yet been demonstrated to any pronounced extent, but everything indicates that this class of farming will attract more attention.

INSECT PESTS.

An American magazine writes:—"We hardly realise that £50,000,000 a year, about £1,000,000 a week, is spent directly or indirectly in trying to check the ravages of the insect pests that prey on the crops. Besides this the pests eat, according to Government estimates, about £160,000,000 worth of food annually, which brings their cost up to over £200,000,000 a year clear loss. In every State effective war is waged on these pests. Every weapon known to science is employed. But no sooner is a particular pest conquered in one part of the country than it appears in another. Emphasis has been placed in recent years on insect-destroying birds, and these are being protected in all kinds of ways. Laws against the use of bird feathers on hats are part of this protection, and in many States forest areas have been established as bird refuges. Science has also attacked the problem in breeding insects to destroy other insects. The melon aphis, for example, used to cost the growers in one Californian valley £1,000,000 a year. The lady bug, it was found, devoured the aphis. So lady bugs were collected and kept in cold storage. About 2000lb were gathered in certain canyons in the Sierras, each pound representing about 25,000 bugs. They bred prodigiously. It was found that 50,000 of them would keep 20 acres of melons free of aphis and other plant lice. As a result, bumper crops have since been raised. So now scientists are studying the problem of bugs to eat bugs, which shall in themselves be harmless to the crop."

CULTIVATION OF SORGHUMS.

The Queensland Department of Agriculture has been giving a great deal of attention to the cultivation of grain or non-saccharine sorghums. This is a crop that is better known in some other countries than it is in Australia. Two years ago the Queensland Department obtained seven different varieties of this grain, and these were grown in different parts of the State. The results were considered so satisfactory that demonstration plots were established in 10 districts. The intention behind the experiment was to ascertain the best varieties for a dry climate, and to improve the types by selection. Some very heavy yields of grain were recorded. In the Boonah district, for instance, where the conditions were favourable for growth, Cream Milo gave 103 bushels to the acre, and other varieties yielded 90 bushels. In districts where the maize crop was a failure the non-saccharine sorghums gave over 50 bushels to the acre. The feeding value has been proved by the chemist of the department to be equal to maize. The grain is suitable not only for human beings, but for poultry, pigs, and farm animals. The grain may be made into meal, and it is said to be most palatable, though when cooked as porridge the colour leaves something to be desired.

STOCKOWNERS' ASSOCIATION.

KILLING FEMALE STOCK.

At the regular monthly meeting of the council of the Stockowners' Association of New South Wales the president, Mr. Charles Binnie, occupied the chair. There were also present Messrs. J. B. Cramsie, Moree; G. H. Gordon, Cragin; L. Leake, Mt. Brandon; W. W. Killen, Merribee; and J. MacKay, Gunyerwarildi. Apologies were received from Messrs. E. Killen and A. E. Scott. The death of Mr. W. H. Wheatley, who had been a member of the council for many years, was reported, and it was resolved that a letter of condolence be sent to Mrs. Wheatley and family expressing the council's appreciation of the work done by Mr. Wheatley. Mr. F. B. S. Falkiner, Haddon Rig, forwarded his resignation from the executive committee, as owing to business reasons he was unable to place his time at the disposal of the association for the present.

A report was received from the Pastoralists' Association of Victoria stating that the Minister for Agriculture (Victoria) had decided to abandon the proposed introduction of a bill to prevent the slaughter of female stock. It was stated that the Minister had had several conferences with graziers, farmers, and dairymen regarding the proposed legislation, and he had arrived at the opinion that while it was very essential that the depleted flocks and herds should be replaced as early as possible, the changes which had taken place in the export market made it unnecessary to take any legislative action.

It was resolved that a deputation be arranged to the Minister for Agriculture at an early date with reference to the travelling stock reserves.

BUTTER SHORTAGE.

Mr. John Russell writes:—The public appear to get rather erroneous ideas as to the actual conditions existing at present, and from time to time one hears and reads statements about supplies of fresh butter being shipped to other States, most of which are considerably exaggerated. The position, however, is easily understood by those who are actively engaged in the business, and the reason of the short supply which has been felt for the past few weeks is, that there is not sufficient production to meet the demand, and as time goes on with a steadily increasing population without an equivalent increase in production, the position will not be improved, especially during the winter months. It would be well to remember that during the past 10 years there has been little, if any, marked development in dairying pursuits, whereas on the other hand there has been great increase in population, and in the consumption of milk, butter, and cheese. The remedy, in order to meet the ever-increasing demand, is to encourage production, and let values be regulated by the law of supply and demand. If Sydney values were advanced to a price that would permit of importations from Brisbane and Melbourne, the market demand could be easily met, and the average family would hardly miss the increase in price, which would exist only for a few weeks, amounting to, say, approximately 2d per lb.

GOVERNMENT ASSISTANCE.

ERECTION OF SILOS.

To encourage farmers to make proper provision for dry seasons, the Minister for Agriculture, Mr. W. C. Grahame, M.L.A., has arranged for the inclusion in the current year's Estimates for his department of a sum of money to provide for assistance to be given to farmers in the erection of silos. The idea is for the department to erect silos at a cost arranged with the farmer, free of interest, to be paid in a lump sum or in instalments covering a period of three years, 25 p.c. deposit, and 25 p.c. at the end of the first, second, and third years respectively. The cost of erection of the silos, it is anticipated, will be approximately one pound (£1) per ton capacity, including elevator, and no silo of a capacity of less than 80, or more than 190 tons, will be erected. Where a large quantity of storage is required it is recommended to farmers that they should have several silos rather than one of great capacity. Copies of the conditions to be observed will be supplied on application to the Under-Secretary and Director for Agriculture.

SCIENTIFIC COMMITTEES.

Two special committees have been appointed by the executive of the Advisory Council of Science and Industry to inquire into the tick pest and the question of worm nodules in beasts. These committees are to meet to-day at the Veterinary School in the Sydney University. The personnel of the committees includes all the scientists who have been actively engaged in this subject in this and the other States. Professor J. Douglas Stewart is chairman of the tick pest committee, and Dr. Dodd (veterinary pathologist) is chairman of the worm nodules committee. Among the experts who will be present are Dr. Harvey Johnson, Mr. C. J. Pound (Queensland), and Mr. A. H. Cory (Chief Inspector of Stock, Queensland), Dr. Georgina Sweet (Victoria), Dr. Cleland (New South Wales), Mr. S. T. D. Symons (Chief Inspector of Stock, New South Wales), and Dr. S. J. Johnston (New South Wales). In addition to the scientific experts, certain lay representatives of the industries most concerned will work in with the committee. The reports of the committees will be forwarded to the Advisory Council for consideration, and it is expected that as an outcome of the deliberations certain representations will be made to the Federal Government.

DAIRYING INDUSTRY.

GOOD BUTTER PENALISED.

ALSTONVILLE.—At the half-yearly meeting of the Alstonville Co-operative Dairy Company, Ltd., the chairman, Mr. R. J. Daley, said no company had been hit harder by the Government than theirs. The Government, in taking over the butter business, had made it a condition that the consumer was to receive first consideration. He did not object to the consumer receiving consideration, but factories that were making good butter had been hit hard. The Government had said they had to send 20 per cent. of their best butter to Sydney until the shortage in supply was overcome. The Alstonville factory fell in with this, but those supplying butter that was not as good as theirs had been allowed to send butter away. The first lot of butter realised from their factory sold at 138/ per cwt. He thought it went into storage at 125/. Some of it came out as first grade, but not choicest, as it sold at 138/ per cwt. There was no shortage, and an attempt was made to get their butter out. It was eventually got out, and was graded choicest, and sold top rate, 142/8, with one small exception. Other factories with second-class butter were allowed to export, and Alstonville factory had to sell butter at Sydney prices. They were allowed to export nine boxes out of 20 per cent. of nine months' supply. The nine boxes were sold at 150/ per cwt f.o.b. Melbourne. No other factories were hit as hard as this. He contended that, instead of being handicapped, they should have got a pat on the back. Lately they had seen other factories, inferior to theirs, giving better pays, but if they cannot get the prices they cannot have bigger pays. Under existing conditions it appeared to their interests to make inferior butter. He hoped he would never have to advocate that. He had always advocated making the very best of butter.

THE CATTLE TICK.

CONCESSION ALLOWED BY MINISTER.

CASINO.—The Mayor of Casino has received a telegram from the Minister for Agriculture stating that cattle going from the local sales will be allowed out of the area going south after one dipping. This concession is greatly appreciated. Regarding the board of control suggested by the department, the Primary Producers' Union has decided not to do anything until the receipt of further information from the department. The union is strongly against any fee being charged for dipping, as the protection of cattle is a national question.

BRISBANE, Saturday.

Messrs. C. Pound (Government Bacteriologist) and A. Gory (Chief Inspector of Stock) leave for Sydney this morning for the purpose of attending the meeting of the committee of the Commonwealth Bureau of Science and Industry to discuss the cattle tick question.

THE WHEAT POOL.

DUBBO.—The Terramungamine branch of the Farmers and Settlers' Association has decided to make a levy on all members of sixpence for every hundred bags of wheat they have in the pool for the purpose of raising a fund wherewith to pay the expenses of an auditor to look after the interests of growers who have wheat in the pool. It was also decided to ask other wheat farmers who are not members of the F. and S. Association to contribute to the fund.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

CAMDEN.—At a meeting of the Camden A.H. and I. Society, Colonel J. M. Macarthur Onslow was re-elected president; and Colonel G. M. Macarthur Onslow, Messrs. F. W. A. Downes, James E. Moore, J. Lakeman, and F. Moore, vice-presidents; Mr. E. H. Street was re-elected hon. treasurer.

DUBBO.—Mr. W. E. Tink, of Wilton, Tomingley, has a crop of Steinwedel wheat, which is already well in ear. The crop has attained a height of nearly five feet, and was grown on fallowed land. The ears, which each contain over one hundred grains, are uniform and full, and are well forward. The crop, which promises to be an exceptionally heavy one, was grown on the share system. Mr. Tink has about one thousand acres under wheat, all of which is in a very forward state.

CORAKI.—Splendid rain continued falling up till early on Saturday morning, 131 points being recorded. Farmers are now busily engaged in potato planting.

DELEGATE.—Although there have been some showers, this district is badly in need of more rain, the country being much drier than is usual at this time of the year. Fortunately stock started the winter in good condition, and are looking well yet. Lambing is proceeding. Foxes appear to be getting more numerous every year, although a lot are killed. Some little time back one man brought in about 40 fox skins.

HENTY.—Fine weather prevailed during the past week, and the crops in many cases are looking splendid. A portion of low-lying ground, however, is suffering from too much rain.

WENTWORTH FALLS.—The rainfall for August amounted to 292 points, spread over 14 days. Though late frosts have occurred it is now considered that winter is over, and an early and good spring is in view. Spraying operations for fruit trees have been general, and the orchard prospects are favourable.

WOLLONGONG.—Very dry conditions prevail here, and unless a good downpour of rain occurs immediately the prospects for spring are by no means bright. A few of the dairy farmers have water supplies, while the majority are hand-feeding on an extensive scale. The complete absence of grass makes it difficult for farmers to keep their cows in the condition required to give even a minimum quantity of milk.

DAIRY SCIENCE SCHOOL.

In connection with a recent announcement regarding a dairy science school which it was proposed to hold at Dungog from the 11th inst., the Department of Agriculture notifies that, owing to extensive alterations which are being carried on in the Dungog factory and other circumstances which have arisen to throw a great deal of extra work on the manager, it has been decided to postpone the school for the time being.

A dairy science school will be held for one week from September 25 at Inverell butter factory for the convenience of New England and Inverell district factory employees. Intending students at the Dungog school should attend at Inverell if possible. Applications, accompanied by the usual fee of 2s 6d, should reach the Under-Secretary, Department of Agriculture, by 18th inst.

Mrs. A. J. BRADY, Glen Ayr, Blenheim-street, Waverley, writes:—"I am still full of gratitude to Clements Tonic for preserving my life. My husband obtained six bottles for me, and those six bottles cured me of general debility."—Advt.

THE BALKANS.

The student who would time the progress of the war in public speeches and in inspired comment will find all his expectations confirmed in the extracts quoted in our cablegrams this morning. The intervention of Roumania is regarded as by far the most significant event in the history of the war since the decision of Italy; to many minds it is more significant than anything that has happened since the battle of the Marne. The criterion is not the length of the Hungarian frontier, the mobility of Russian troops, or the size of the Roumanian army. It is the knowledge that throughout all the negotiations, the Roumanian Prime Minister has declared that no prospect of territory would induce his country to intervene unless he were certain that the end was already assured, and that it cannot be delayed for any prolonged period. Naturally his decision has more immediately affected the neighbouring Balkan States. In Greece and Bulgaria it has given new life to the parties which throughout the war have favoured one or other of the allies. In each of these countries a pro-German Court is assailed by a demand that the example of Roumania be followed, and the country allowed to earn some of the fruits of victory by siding with the victor, while something still remains to be done. The friends of the Allies have naturally a more difficult task in Bulgaria than in Greece. Bulgaria is at war, its government is largely in German hands, and the people have a strong and well-founded dislike both of Roumanians and Serbs. The only claim of Prince Boris to leadership is the traditional opposition of an heir-apparent to his father's policy and the fact that in his early youth he was handed over to the Greek Church as a pledge of his country's fidelity to Russia. Possibly this early conversion may have inspired Prince Boris to hope that by coming out on the right side now he may save the throne which his father has irretrievably lost. A considerable section of his countrymen will find that both sentiment and interest should lead them to take his side if the Allies could be persuaded to permit them to do so. Sentiment would bring them to the support of the general who led them through the Balkan Wars, and of the nation which first gave them their independence, then helped them to enlarge their boundaries, and afterwards enabled them to cast off Turkish suzerainty. Interest must teach that if they are to have a place in the Balkans, if they are to survive at all as a separate nation, they must acquire some new territory, and that since Servia and Roumania are on the winning side they must acquire it at the expense of the Turk or the Greek. It is clear from the declaration of war against Roumania that the Government at Sofia is still in German hands. But we can well believe that the attacks on the Czar and his Prime Minister are supported by a considerable section of the people, and the nation after fighting against one of its hereditary enemies, the Servian, might easily turn against its other hereditary enemy, the Turk.

In Greece the belief that the present is the last opportunity which any nation will have of enlarging its boundaries is expressed in the two interviews with M. Venizelos. The Greek statesman is plainly appealing to his countrymen either to supersede their present leaders or to compel them to join the war. The nature of the opposition to his proposals is the best test imaginable of the change in the attitude of all the Balkan peoples towards the belligerents. When the Allies went to Salonica the majority of Ministers and ex-Ministers in Greece were pro-German. To-day the Prime Minister hesitates to go further than a benevolent neutrality. There are obvious grounds for his hesitation in the state of the army permeated with German influence, and in the harbours still filled with German agents to such an extent that it is necessary for the Allies to send their fleet to the Piraeus. But obviously M. Venizelos does not think that these grounds are sufficient or that they will be permanent. He cherishes the ambition, which colours the politics of every Balkan State, that his country will include all the men of its race under one Government. If he is to realise this ideal he must annex part of the Turkish territory in Asia which almost two years ago he asked for in return for concessions to Bulgaria, and he knows that to have any right to new territory his countrymen must act in time to share some of the dangers of the Roumanians even if they can do nothing to compensate for their desertion of their former ally, Servia.

The answer made by the Prime Minister of Bavaria to the Roumanian declaration is even more instructive than the actions of the Balkan States. Count von Hertling is a representative German, who a few months ago was thought likely to succeed to the Chancellorship. In his interview he shows that the course of the war has had absolutely no effect on German psychology. He still thinks that threats of murder and rapine will terrify a nation as last year they terrified Greece. He has never realised that the Roumanian Government, before declaring war, satisfied itself that Germany could no longer carry these threats into execution. He appears to attach some value to American opinion, yet he leaves the American people to infer that nothing will protect a nation from the German menace but size and preparedness. One lesson of the interview is that, in spite of the accumulated evidence of dislike, Germany believes in no motive but fear; another is, that in spite of her diplomatic failures she still believes her armies invincible. The Allies can accept Count von Hertling's interview in the light of the statement issued by the Russian Minister for War. The German forces are damaged, but by no means broken. They can still take divisions away from the Western front and send them to the Danube, and can still begin a strong attack against the Russians in Volhynia and Galicia. As yet there is no sign that Germany would think of accepting those terms of peace which the Allies must impose upon her. Her statesmen will eagerly look for a sign of weakness or of relaxation in their enemies, and will make frantic appeals to their own people. They will remember how Napoleon in his last desperate battles in France was more than once on the point of securing satisfactory terms, though his army was hopelessly outnumbered. Fortunately their statesmen continue to express such views as Count von Hertling's, as if to remind the world that no nation will be safe until they are humiliated.

WAR-TIME PROFITS TAX.

We may expect that the Federal Legislature will shortly resume consideration of the War-time Profits Tax. Already a deputation representing mining interests has put its views before the Federal Minister, and a special committee of the Sydney Chamber of Commerce is engaged in energetically analysing the measure in order to discover where, if at all, its incidence will unjustly fall. No protest has been heard against the principle of the tax. What objections have been raised have regard to particular cases. The day has gone by when war could be made the occasion for creating fortunes among any class of a belligerent community where democracy rules. We know that among neutrals, especially in the United States, princely fortunes have been amassed because of the demands of war. That, of course, we cannot prevent. We have not got the goods, and we must pay the price of those who have got them. But where among our own people huge profits are made, profits above the normal, because of war conditions, it is equitable that a proportion should go to the State. It may seem logical that the whole of the extra profit should go to the State, but if it is logical it would not be expedient. If the whole of the extra profits were taken over by the State there would be very little profit to take. The reason has its origin in human nature. We are not sufficiently far advanced in morals to work for nothing for any continuous period for the good of the community. If a manufacturer or a trader found the Government taking everything above his normal profit there would be temptation on his part to treat his customers more leniently or his employees more generously; perhaps both. That might be said to be exactly what is wanted. It is not so. The Government wants money to conduct the war. A war-time profits tax is one way of obtaining that money, and an easy way, because the taxpayers are few and wealthy. If the yield were found to be small, some other source of revenue would have to be tapped to fill the gap. The Federal Treasurer must have money.

The Treasurer, therefore, takes only half instead of the whole of the abnormal profits. It has been argued that the bill as it stands at present makes no allowance for the normal growth of a business. But can a business well established before the war continue its normal growth while war is waging? The tendency for everybody is, or ought to be, to contract expenditure. Outside of war orders, or orders given rise to by the war, it is doubtful whether any business will increase its output. If the value of the turnover is maintained, but because of higher prices higher profits are obtained, the latter are due to the war and should be taxed. There are, however, one or two points in which the bill as it at present stands will work injustice. One is the application of the statutory percentage to the standard profit. The statutory percentage, 6 per cent. on the capital of companies, and 7 per cent. on the capital of other businesses, is reckoned to be the standard profit of those businesses which have come into operation since the war commenced, or which have only commenced to be remunerative during this period. That is undoubtedly a low rate, because not only has the dividend of a company to be paid out of that 6 per cent., but provision has to be made for a reserve, as a business which has no reserve is not in a sound position. Again, as 6 per cent. is somewhat below the mortgage rate, there is no encouragement here for capital to take risks. What has happened is that our bill, not only in its principles, but in its detail as far as the tax itself is concerned, is a copy of the British Act. Six per cent. may be an adequate return in Great Britain, but it is not considered adequate here. The French law is more liberal. That allows a return of 10 per cent., which is perhaps erring on the side of generosity. The statutory percentage provision will press more hardly on the mining investor than on the industrial investor. A mining venture is often in existence some years before the profit-producing stage is reached. Those mines which have reached that stage only since the war will find their profits limited under the bill to 6 per cent., or if they are privately owned to 7 per cent. The dividends of a mine, in order to be payable, should provide not only income but also a return of capital. The yield must be very large which enables this return to be made by 6 per cent. upon capital and half of the excess over 6 per cent. No doubt this anomaly will be rectified when the bill is in committee. The Treasurer has made a promise in this direction, but it is well that the point should be emphasised.

THE BUTTER SHORTAGE.

The assumption by the Federal Government of price fixing throughout Australia has synchronised with a scarcity of butter in this State. That scarcity is the direct result of the action of the Commonwealth authorities, but it provides no argument that it is better to have six price-fixing authorities in Australia than one. The fault, and there is a grave fault, lies not with the principle of one authority but with the administration by that authority. In the case of butter there has been no attempt to make the price uniform, or as far uniform as to keep rates at a parity after allowing for transport charges. Queensland has butter for herself and to spare; New South Wales is not producing sufficient for her own requirements; Victoria has butter sufficient for herself and, it is said, though with some doubt, a small surplus for export. If it is beneficial to have fixed prices the obvious course to pursue would be to fix such rates that it would pay no more to sell New South Wales butter in any other State than in New South Wales. But between the Melbourne price and the Sydney price there is a difference of 5s 4d, Sydney being the lower, while Brisbane is 4s 8d lower than Sydney. When the Commonwealth assumed price-fixing functions the export doors to other States were opened. The shortage here was naturally accentuated because, with a higher rate offering, much of our produce, insufficient as it was, flowed Melbourneward. So far the Commonwealth authorities have not moved, first, because price-fixing is in a state of chaos owing to the resignation of the Federal Parliamentary board, and, secondly, because the position is complicated by reason of the Queensland Government having taken possession of the exportable surplus in that State. But the fact remains that while Queensland and Victoria have butter to spare New South Wales is starving because the Federal authorities cannot settle disputes among themselves, or do not grapple with the problems of which they have taken direction. A consideration of the whole business shows the uninitiated how intricate are the ways of commerce, and how easily the compensatory balances which commerce naturally provides, are put out of gear by inexperienced handling.

WHEAT POOL.

£4,000,000 TO BE DISTRIBUTED TO FARMERS.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Before leaving for Sydney on Saturday afternoon the Prime Minister (Mr. Hughes) announced that arrangements had been made by the Commonwealth Government to pay farmers the additional 6d agreed upon by the Wheat Board. The payment would be made forthwith.

According to a statement subsequently made by the Minister for Agriculture (Mr. Hagelthorn) the amount to be distributed on account of this dividend would come to £4,000,000.

TRANSCONTINENTAL RAILWAY.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Judge Eagleson, who was commissioned by the Federal Ministry to inquire into the series of charges of incompetency and extravagance made by Mr. D. L. Gilchrist against those responsible for the construction of the western section of the east-west railway, has presented his report to the Prime Minister (Mr. Hughes). The report will be considered at the next meeting of the Federal Cabinet.

FEDERAL SESSION.

COMPULSORY SERVICE DEBATE.

OLD-AGE PENSIONS.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Important business will be done next week by the Federal Parliament, which meets on Wednesday afternoon. The debate on the Ministry's policy with regard to compulsory military service abroad will be resumed by the leader of the Opposition (Mr. Cook), and it is expected that a number of members will take advantage of the opportunity given them to express their views on the question of conscription. It is improbable, however, that there will be any considerable delay in the passage of the bill which the Prime Minister (Mr. Hughes) is introducing to authorise the taking of a referendum on conscription. The Treasurer (Mr. Higgs) intends to make a statement setting out the financial position of the Commonwealth when the Supply Bill comes up for discussion, probably on Thursday or Friday. Some explanation of the policy decided on by the Ministry on the question of increasing old-age pensions is also anticipated.

EMPIRE'S EFFORT.

AUSTRALIA LAGS BEHIND.

PREMIER'S OPINION.

The Premier yesterday expressed his conviction that Australia had "lagged considerably behind the Empire as a whole in the matter of offering soldiers." And he was of this opinion, although the Prime Minister was reported to have said that Australia had, so far, done as well as any other part of the Empire. Referring to this quotation from Mr. Hughes' speech, Mr. Holman said:—"I do think that if the information can be given without revealing what is essentially confidential, the public mind should be further informed as to Australia's contribution as compared with other portions of the Empire. Does Mr. Hughes mean that the numbers so far raised within Australia bear the same proportion to our population as the numbers raised in other parts of the Empire? If he does then the statement is likely to have a very considerable effect upon the final judgment of the public when the problem of introducing a new method of raising forces comes up for discussion. For myself I hardly can believe that this is what it does mean, and I think the statement is capable of being cleared up further. Throughout the Empire the total number of men raised—according to the King's statement made on the second anniversary of the war—was a little over 5,000,000. I have no means of knowing how many of these are coloured or Indian troops, but, apparently, they are very few. If the five million men are five million white men then that would be about one in 12 of the white population of the Empire. I do not think that our contribution would bring us up to that percentage because one in 12 would represent with us not far short of 400,000 men. Although it is very difficult to calculate accurately the total number raised in Australia so far, we know that our force is a long way below 400,000. We know that the 300,000 total at which the Government aimed before Mr. Hughes left for England was not realised. Therefore I think that Mr. Hughes's statement needs qualification in some way. It is important that the facts should be stated, if possible, quite plainly. If we may judge from the candour with which Mr. Hughes discussed the proposed military arrangements for the rest of the year there is no vital reason for secrecy in these matters. My own opinion is that we have lagged considerably behind the Empire as a whole."

PERSONAL.

VICE-REGAL.

His Excellency the Governor, accompanied by Cavaliere Eles and Miss Eles, and Miss Cecilia Strickland, and attended by Captain Boulton, A.D.C., was present at the private view, Royal Art Society's exhibition of pictures, at the galleries, Education Department, on Saturday morning.

Cavaliere Eles and Miss Eles, who have been the guests of his Excellency the Governor and Lady Edeline Strickland for the past few days, departed for Melbourne last night.

The Assistant Minister for Defence (Senator Gardiner) reached Sydney by the Melbourne express yesterday morning. Senator Gardiner will attend the meeting of the P.L.L. executive to-night, and return to Melbourne to-morrow.

The leader of the Opposition (Mr. Joseph Cook) arrived in Sydney on Saturday morning. He will return to Melbourne by the express to-night.

Brigadier-General Pethebridge, Administrator of the North-West Pacific Islands, who has been on leave in Melbourne, leaves on the way back to his headquarters at Rabaul, New Guinea, next Friday.

Mr. E. G. Theodore, Treasurer of Queensland, arrived in Sydney yesterday from Brisbane.

Mr. F. Hagelthorne, Victorian Minister of Agriculture, arrived in Sydney yesterday from Brisbane.

Mr. V. Gordon Childe Cooper, graduate scholar for 1915-16, has taken the degree of B. Litt. at Oxford University.

A cablegram has been received by the Rev. Ronald Cameron, of Turramurra, stating that his eldest son, Claude, has received a commission. Lieutenant Cameron served five months in Gallipoli. After the evacuation he went on to France.

ANTI-CONSCRIPTIONISTS.

MEETING IN THE DOMAIN.

Unionists gathered in force yesterday in the Domain to enter a protest against the action of the Chief Secretary, Mr. George Black, in prohibiting conscription meetings in the Domain on Sunday afternoons. The meeting, which was attended by thousands of people, was an orderly one, except for one section gathered close to the platform. This section was composed chiefly of about 20 soldiers and their supporters, but they were few in numbers compared with the hundreds of unionists, who, in the absence of the police, formed a body-guard around the speakers, and every time the soldiers and their supporters attempted to break through and upset the meeting the representatives of the anti-conscriptionists got shoulder to shoulder and pushed the soldiers and their friends bodily away from the meeting; but the men in khaki and their supporters returned to the attack, and for a time there was a good deal of pushing and swaying and angry ejaculations from both forces. However, the soldiers being few in number, were forced away, and the anti-conscriptionists—all able-bodied men, mostly from 21 to 40 years of age, lustily cheered the success they had achieved. The chairman announced that another meeting would be held every Sunday until such time as Mr. Black again allowed anti-conscription meetings in the Domain on Sundays.

The speakers got a good hearing, and the resolution condemning Mr. Black was declared carried; the unionists in a body voting for it, while some thousands of people looked on and said nothing.

The chair was occupied by Mr. G. Waite, president of the United Labourers' Society, and the speakers were Mr. A. Buckley, of the Amalgamated Railway and Tramway Association; Mr. G. M'Neil, of the Wharf-labourers' Union; Mr. E. Judd, representing the municipal employees; and Mrs. Scott Griffiths, of the Women's Peace Army.

The motion submitted and declared carried was:—"That the prohibition of free discussion of the great national question of compulsory service by Mr. George Black, Chief Secretary, calls for the united protest of all unionists and citizens; and, further, the P.L.L. executive and unions should insist upon the restoration of our citizens' rights to hold meetings in the Domain as heretofore."

PRIME MINISTER.

IN SYDNEY.

LABOUR LEAGUE MEETING.

The Prime Minister (Mr. Hughes) arrived from Melbourne by the express yesterday morning.

This evening Mr. Hughes will address the executive of the Political Labour League on defence matters. He is to have a "heart-to-heart" talk on the most vital of all subjects in the political realm, with members of of that body, whose meeting will be held in camera.

The Prime Minister, when seen last evening at the Grosvenor Hotel, where he is staying, could not be induced to say anything further in regard to conscription. He remarked that the officers of the electoral department were hard at work preparing machinery for the referendum. As to the form in which the issue would be put to the people he was not in a position to say anything at present. The bill would be laid on the table of the House in the course of a few days. In the meantime he preferred not to anticipate the discussion. Arrangements were in train for giving effect to the decision to permit Australian soldiers in England, France, and elsewhere to vote. Precisely what those arrangements were, he again had nothing to say.

Mr. Holman's references in regard to State provision for soldiers were then mentioned, but elicited no comment.

The only information that Mr. Hughes volunteered was that the advance by the wheat pool of the additional sixpence to farmers would be made forthwith.

To-day Mr. Hughes will have a conference with Mr. Theodore, the Queensland Treasurer, in regard to some financial adjustments in which the northern State is concerned, particularly in regard to the sugar question.

To-morrow evening Mr. Hughes will leave on his return to Melbourne.

HIGH SCHOOLS.

FARMS TO BE ESTABLISHED.

In declaring the Mudgee High School officially open on Saturday, Mr. Griffith (Minister for Education) said it was the 22nd High School now in operation in New South Wales. Several other district schools were in the transition stage, and would be shortly added to the list of High Schools. But, while the door of opportunity was thrown open to every boy and girl, and while an easy path had been made for the clever child of the poorest parent, "from bush school to university," and while it was just that the professions of law, medicine, science, and engineering should be recruited from the country as from the city with an equality of proportion, it cannot be emphasised too strongly that the majority of country boys must, and should, look to the country when planning their careers. With a population of 1,856,693, only 146,296 people, or less than 8 per cent. of the total, were engaged in agricultural pursuits. In a country like New South Wales, with its climatic conditions and its frequent liability to drought, it was essential that the farmer must be equipped with every scientific advantage that could be made available to enable him to cope with the forces of nature.

"Later on," continued the Minister, "we hope to establish school farms in connection with our country High Schools. The Government has already secured a considerable area for an Agricultural High School on the Murrumbidgee irrigation areas, and suitable areas at Bathurst, Orange, and Wagga High Schools. When these school farms had been put in order they would supply the means for actual practice by the boys in farm operations, for experiments in manures, in deep and shallow cultivation, and in the various types of cereals, and in observation work to supplement the work of the laboratory."

As a matter of justice it was necessary that the door of opportunity open to the city lad should be thrown open to the country lad, attending the smallest bush school, added Mr. Griffith. At the last qualifying certificate examination 70 per cent. of the candidates from country schools passed, as against 60 per cent. from the Public schools in Sydney. Of 349 pupils who won leaving certificates last year 107 were gained by country pupils.

The Minister paid a tribute to the strenuous labours of Mr. W. Dunn, M.L.A. for Mudgee, who was now at the front, in advocating the establishment of the high school. He said the general increase in expenditure in education over that spent by the preceding Government was £488,000. The total sum now being spent was £1,662,000, a little more than the sum received from the income tax, 1,653,000.

CONSCRIPTION.

SIR JOHN FORREST'S VIEW.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

In a message sent to-day to the people of Western Australia Sir John Forrest says that at first sight, and with an inadequate knowledge, he, like many others, felt disappointed with Mr. Hughes' referendum proposals, but after the Prime Minister's speech in the House of Representatives on Friday it is certain, he states, that the course now being pursued by Mr. Hughes is the best and most likely under the circumstances to succeed. "I am convinced," he concludes, "that no other means are as likely to succeed."

FREEDOM OF SPEECH.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The Prime Minister was asked in Parliament if the Government intended to exercise its powers under the War Precautions Act to lock up those who were objecting to conscription.

Mr. Hughes said that the Government would not hesitate to use its powers under the Act in every direction necessary for the welfare of the country.

A BARRIER GATHERING.

BROKEN HILL, Sunday.

A meeting of the anti-conscription party was held at the Central Reserve this afternoon. At one stage, when portion of the audience sought to drown the voices of the speakers by singing patriotic airs, it looked as if trouble might follow, but the police kept the crowd well in hand.

TROOPS INSPECTED.

The District Commandant, Brigadier-General Ramaciotti, V.D., was on the old review ground, Moore Park, promptly to the minute yesterday afternoon. It was a fine sight which greeted him. The spacious ground was lined on every side with dense masses of people, estimated at over 30,000. In the centre of the ground was a long and deep line of khaki-clad figures.

The Commandant was accompanied by Lieut. Frank Smith, A.D.C.; Major Sadler, General Staff Officer; Captain Donald, General Staff, Melbourne; Captain Stokes, General Staff Officer; and a mounted New South Wales Lancer orderly. On arrival of the General and his staff, the long lines of troops came to attention, while the massed bands of Liverpool Depot and the Engineers played the general salute. An inspection of the men—who were all infantry reinforcements—was made by the Commandant, who returned to the saluting base to receive the salute as the men marched past, where he was joined by Major S. Harris, officer in command of the whole parade. Each long double line of companies as it swung past was greeted with cheers and clapping of hands. And they deserved it, these bronzed boys, for they marched past like veterans, and the lines were as perfect as Household troops could show.

The troops having passed in column of companies, were to return, after picking up their kit bags, in column of route to the Royal Agricultural Showground. The star of the [illegible] to their temporary quarters in the Royal Agricultural Showground. The sun of the day was a small boy dressed in the field service uniform of the Lancers, with a bunch of emu feathers in his cap, left the saluting base to join his father at the head of his band. As he passed General Ramaciotti, this embryo soldier gravely saluted, and from the General came just as gravely an answering salute. The small boy reached his father, and was allowed to go ahead of him and conduct the movements of the band as it swung into line to lead the latter half of the troops off the ground.

WAR LOAN.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Sunday.

Small investors are responding liberally to the war loan issue. They have purchased over £700,000 worth of certificates in three weeks.

BALKANS

THE ROUMANIAN DASH

GREEK CHAOS.

REVOLT AT SALONICA.

ALLIES AT PIRAEUS.

RUSSIANS

AGAIN ATTACKING.

The Roumanians' dash into Hungary has resulted in further territory being occupied. Heavy enemy reinforcements are expected.

The Roumanian left, at Orsova, has forced the Austrians back, and their right has junctioned with the Russians from Bukovina.

The condition of Greece is even more chaotic. Greek Macedonia is in the hands of a revolutionary committee. Fighting between the revolutionaries and royalists in Salonica was stopped by the French, to whom the Royalists willingly surrendered.

Allied warships have arrived at the Piraeus, the port of Athens, and landing parties seized the wireless station and German vessels in the harbour.

The Greek King is reported to be ill.

The Russians are successfully attacking at several points on the Galician front. They took nearly 16,000 prisoners on Thursday.

ROUMANIA.

FORCES ADVANCING.

LOSSES ONLY SLIGHT.

LONDON, Sept. 3.

The latest Bucharest communique states: We are successfully advancing in all directions.

A Roumanian Mayor, police, and authorities have been installed at Brasso. The railway station at Orsova is under our artillery fire. Our losses hitherto have been slight. We have taken prisoner 15 officers and 1800 men.

TACTICAL SUCCESS.

The Roumanian success in the Orsova district is much commented on in the press. It is pointed out that the capture of the town would open the road along the Danube to Belgrade. A swift advance would be fatal to the enemy.

The latest success is the more satisfactory, inasmuch as a large stiffening of Germans has been placed among the Austro-Hungarian troops.

AT A SINGLE BOUND.

A Bucharest wireless message states: The Roumanian army on the evening of the declaration of war was ready to take up its positions. The troops crossed the crests of the mountains between Bukovina and the Danube with a single bound. Attacks were delivered from Wallachia and from the north of Moldavia towards the west. The principal operations were from Wallachia, whence three important attacks were delivered in the valleys of the Ziv, Altz, and Prakova. We were momentarily held in check at Orsova, on the extreme left front, but during the past two days the Roumanians crossed the entire Orsova zone, following the line of the Danube. The attack on the Moldavian side has been appreciably extended in the directions of Ghimesh Palanka and Oltuz. In the extreme north of this line the Roumanians, on the first day, junctioned with General Letchitsky's troops. This general attack enabled an advance to be made on Wednesday of 25 miles along almost the entire front. The greatest advance was in the direction of Hermannstadt. The rapidity of the advance broke down numerous successive lines of defence, enabling the capture of ammunition depots. The Hungarians since the war had powerfully fortified this elevated zone. The advance continues.

BULGARIAN LEADS RUSSIANS.

A Rome message states that General Dimitrieff (the Bulgarian soldier who joined the Russians at the outbreak of war) commands the Russians invading Bulgaria.

DISPOSITION OF ARMIES.

A Paris message states: Two Roumanian armies are operating in Transylvania. The first, which is called the Moldavian army, under General Cottescu, has crossed the Palanka Pass, and constitutes the right wing. It has already junctioned with the Russians.

The second or Wallachian army, under General Coanda, a military specialist, undertook a lightning offensive against the Austrians. It crossed the Predeal and Roterturm passes, aiming at Brasso and Hermannstadt.

The third army, under General Avaresco, aims for the Banat, and is expected to march via Verciorovo and the Ziv Valley.

HUNGARY ALARMED.

CITIZENS ARMING.

A Rome wireless message states:—Hungary is arming all her citizens irrespective of age.

One hundred thousand fugitives from Transylvania are invading Hungary, where there is general alarm at the rapidity of the Roumanian advance.

The weakness of Hungary's defences has already lost her all her principal frontier towns and Alpine passes.

RUSSIAN CO-OPERATION.

The "Daily Chronicle's" Petrograd correspondent states that the Russians continue to pour into Roumania. A section of the Russian fleet has arrived at Constanza.

ENEMY REPORTS.

The latest Austrian communique states: After five days' fierce battles near Orsova we withdrew to the western bank of the Cherna. The enemy near Hermanstadt and northward of Brasso are following only hesitatingly. New engagements have developed in the Gyergyo Mountains.

Our Danubian flotilla sank a Roumanian patrol boat.

An earlier communique stated: The enemy was again repulsed on Thursday near Orsova, and in the vicinity of Herkulesbad. We evacuated Nagy Szeben (Hermanstadt), 70 miles W. by N. of Brasso (and Seps Szent Gyoergy), 19 miles north-east of Brasso, in accordance with the general situation.

IN BULGARIA.

It is reported from Berlin that the Roumanians have occupied Rustchuk, a fortified town in Bulgaria, on the Danube, 41 miles south-west of Bucharest.

FOE RETIRING.

DEFENCE LINE SHORTENED.

The "New York World" prints a despatch from its correspondent, Karl von Wiegand, stating that the Austro-Hungarians are retiring before the Roumanians in Transylvania, and fighting only rearguard actions. The Austro-Hungarian centre already is shortening its defence line by 60 miles.

Some 5000 refugees from evacuated districts arrived at Budapest on Thursday. A constant stream is fleeing westward from the Roumanian border.

THE DANUBE.

ENEMY'S INTENTIONS.

German reports state that 50,000 Germans have arrived at Klausenburg (Transylvania).

The Austrians have evacuated Maros Vasarhely.

A Paris report says it is believed that Germany and Austria are preparing to bring the full weight of their effort against the Southern Roumanian frontier, whither a heavy movement of troops is in progress. Von Hindenburg's first effort will be on the Danube. The Germans may meanwhile be content to hold the Western front, if necessary withdrawing upon a shorter line.

STILL TRUCULENT.

GERMANY THREATENS ROUMANIA.

The Berlin correspondent of the "New York World," Karl von Wiegand, reports that he interviewed Count von Hertling, the Premier of Bavaria. The latter admits the great importance of the intervention of Roumania, but adds: "It appears certain that Roumania in the near future will become the most tragic and terrible of battlefields. What that means Roumania must have learned from Belgium, Poland, and Servia. Whatever the outcome, Roumania will be drawn under the wheels. It is significant that the Entente has been compelled to cajole the smaller nations into the war. This is heartless and merciless, coming from a great nation like England."

With the entry of Italy and Roumania, he continued, Germany has to face a third winter of the terrible conflict.

Von Hertling said he could not understand the pronounced and extensive anti-German sentiment in America. Perhaps the sinking of the Lusitania was the cause, but in the submarine question Germany had given up her most effective weapon against England for no other reason than to show her sincere desire to maintain friendly relations with America.

BULGARIA.

WAR ON ROUMANIA.

A BITTER NOTE.

LONDON, Sept. 3.

Bulgaria has declared war on Roumania, the announcement being made from various sources.

Berlin reports say a war manifesto has been posted in the streets of Sofia.

Amsterdam advices state that the Bulgarian Note accompanying the declaration of war on Roumania asserts that Roumania provoked numerous frontier incidents, and alludes in bitter terms to Roumania's intervention in the Balkan War, when "Roumania, profiting by the bloody ordeal through which the Bulgarian people were passing, robbed them, while they were struggling for existence, of a portion of their territory, and showed a hatred which nothing could justify."

The Note also refers to Roumania's closing her frontier against goods and travellers.

GERMANY UNEASY.

Messages from the Hague state that the German newspapers manifest great uneasiness regarding Bulgaria. They admit the frontiers are difficult to defend. Should Greece join the Entente, Bulgaria may possibly be compelled to sue for peace, which would be a calamity to the Central Powers.

The French Press urges united Allied action against Sofia, so as to rapidly dispose of the Bulgarian situation.

FEAR OF RUSSIA.

A message from Germany, through New York, states that Dr. Rizov, the Bulgarian Minister at Berlin, said: We know Roumania hates the Bulgarians. Russian triumphs would mean the end of Bulgarian independence, since the way to Constantinople lies through Bulgaria.

The death is announced from Sofia of General Jostoff, Chief of the Bulgarian General Staff.

It is reported that General Jostoff committed suicide, not wishing to lead his army to what he considered certain defeat. His suicide delayed the Bulgarian declaration of war against Roumania.

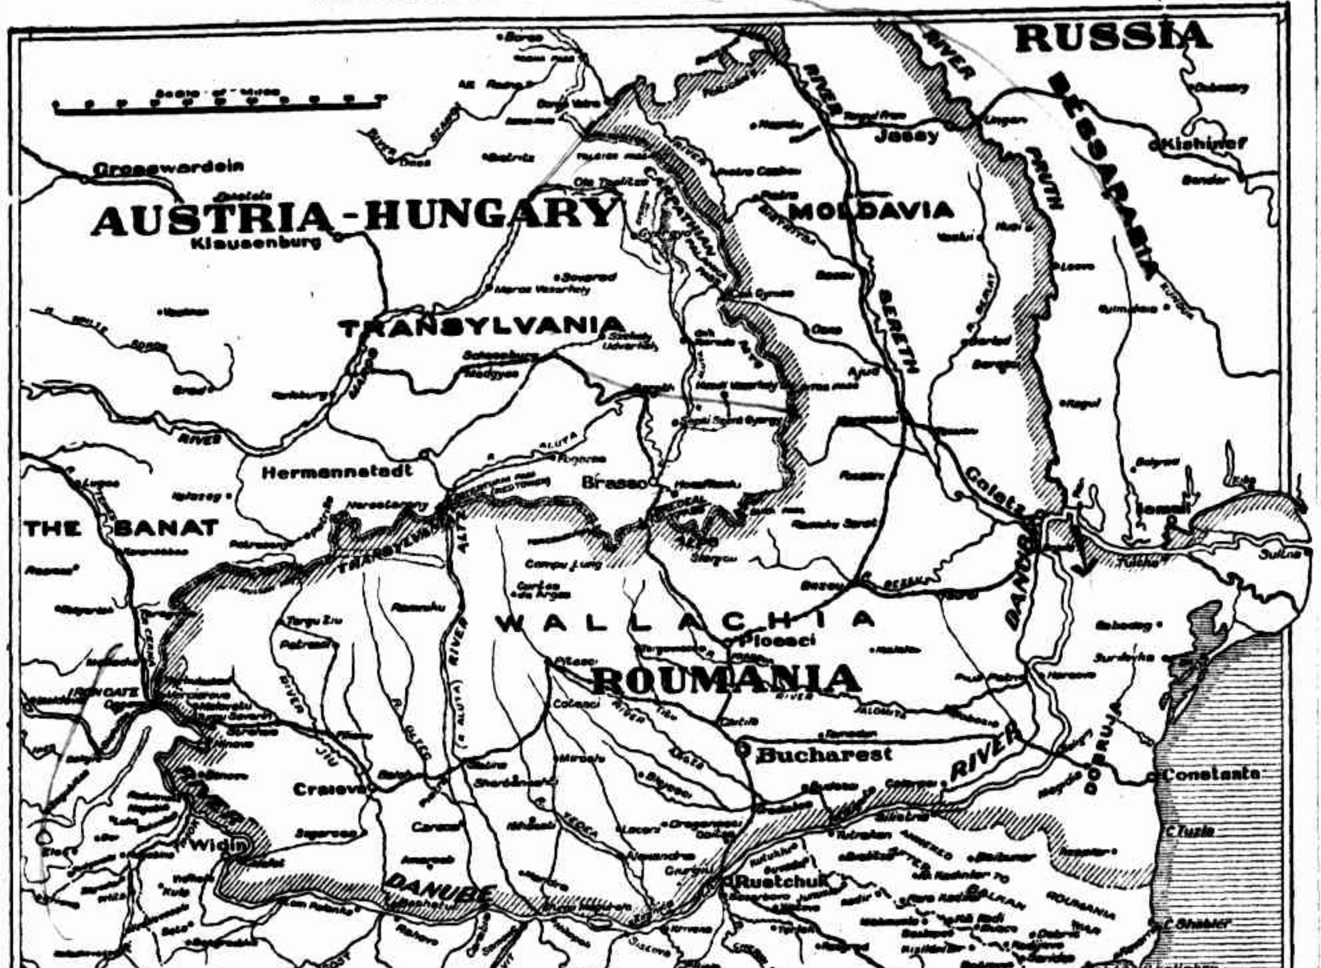
PRO-RUSSIAN PRINCE.

The Rome "Messaggero" states that a violent quarrel took place between the King of Bulgaria and the Crown Prince Boris on account of the latter's Russophile tendencies. The King ordered Prince Boris to take his place with the army. Prince Boris refused, and is now hiding in Sofia.

A Rome wireless message says that violent manifestations against the King and the Premier, M. Radoslavoff, occurred at Sofia, following the declaration of war against Roumania.

[It is an interesting fact that Prince Boris, the heir-apparent of Bulgaria, who is now 22 years of age, was baptised in his infancy as a member of the Greek Church. His parents, of course, are Roman Catholics. His adherence to the Greek Church was regarded as a compliment to Russia, with whom Bulgaria at that time, eager for complete independence, wished to be on good terms.]

ROUMANIAN ADVANCE IN TRANSYLVANIA.



The shaded line represents the Roumanian frontier. Most of the passes in the Transylvanian Alps and Carpathians are in Roumanian hands. The Russians, south of Bukovina, are advancing west of Dorna Vatra (in the top centre of the map), and have been joined by the Roumanian right wing. The main Roumanian armies advanced in the north by way of Tolgies and Palanka passes; in the centre by way of Predeal Pass, towards Brasso, and by Roterturm, or Redtower Pass towards Hermannstadt. In the south-west a big Roumanian move is developing along the Danube, at and north of Orsova, the railway station in this town being under the fire of the Roumanian artillery. There are indications that the enemy is abandoning a large area of Transylvania, and they are said to be evacuating the towns of Bistritz, Maros Vasarhely, and Hermannstadt. It is stated that the Central Powers intend to attack Roumania from along the Danube in the south-west. The Russians have crossed the Danube from Bessarabia at Reni, and are reported to be marching across the province of Dobruja to attack Bulgaria from the north. The black arrow on the map indicates the course the Russians are following.

MACEDONIA.

BULGARS FALL BACK.

SERVIANS ADVANCING.

LONDON, Sept. 3.

The "Daily Chronicle's" Athens correspondent says the Bulgarians are falling back rapidly towards Monastir and the Florina Plains. The Servians are pressing on despite a sharp counter-attack by a Bulgarian column upon the slopes of Gornichevo, which was detailed to cover the Bulgarian retreat. The attack failed with heavy Bulgarian loss, the Servians capturing three Krupp guns. The retreat of the enemy towards Monastir is so hurried that it may soon be turned into a rout. The Bulgarians are already unable to remove their wounded.

Later advices from Athens state that the Bulgarians have withdrawn from Sorovitch towards the passes of Kirlideven and Banitza. Servian cavalry has reached Sorovitch. The Bulgarians continue to retreat all along the Florina-Monastir valley.

A Salonica communique on Saturday stated: There has been an intermittent cannonade on the Struma front. In the Lake Doiran region our artillery set fire to Pardovica station, north of Ghevgheli. Some grenade fighting took place between Cerna and Vardar. The Servians easily repulsed a Bulgarian night attack in the Vetrenik sector.

The Press Bureau announces: Hostile artillery shelled the Fitoki and Komarjan bridges on the Struma front. Our aeroplanes bombed Angista station. There was intermittent artillery fire at Doiran.

AERIAL ACTIVITY.

An Athens message says that Allied aeroplanes bombed the Bulgarian encampment at Sorovitch, killing 150.

Three Bulgarian aeroplanes bombed the Island of Thasbos, off Kavala. British aeroplanes pursued them, and brought down two, badly damaging the third.

ALBANIA.

REVOLT AGAINST AUSTRIANS.

Essad Pasha (formerly ruler of Albania), when in Paris prior to his departure for Salonica, declared that Albania was in a state of open revolution owing to hunger.

The Albanians did not wish to be governed in Prussian fashion. Already there were 20,000 insurgents.

"When peace comes," he said, "the Entente will decide Albania's destinies. The violence of the Austro-German oppression caused my exile, which will not last long. I am rejoining the Allies in Salonica in the firm hope of spending the winter in Albanian territory."

A Rome wireless message states that Albanian insurgents annihilated or captured several Austrian garrisons.

ITALIANS ADVANCING.

VILLAGES AND TOWN OCCUPIED.

LONDON, Sept. 2.

The Italian troops which were landed at Port Palermo, in Southern Albania, have advanced some distance inland.

An official Italian communique says: We occupied the town of Tepelini, on the Vojussa River, 20 miles north-east of Port Palermo. The Albanian and Greek garrison withdrew.

We stormed the villages of Kog and Hekal, near Carbonara, ten miles east of Valona, capturing some Austrians.

GREEK CRISIS.

ALLIED SHIPS AT PIRAEUS.

COMBATING PRO-GERMANS.

WIRELESS STATION SEIZED.

LONDON, Sept. 3.

An Athens message on Saturday evening stated that allied warships had entered the navy yard at Piraeus (the port of Athens).

Landing parties took possession of the wireless station.

Allied boarding parties seized four German Levant liners at Piraeus. It is reported that the Allies have demanded the delivery of 60 suspected Germans.

According to the "Hestia" Greek naval officers and men have been recalled from leave.

The "Daily Chronicle" Athens correspondent previously stated that an Anglo-French fleet of 30 units, comprising transports, was outside Piraeus Harbour.

Another message stated that 23 allied warships arrived at Piraeus at noon on Friday, accompanied by transports from Salonica.

English newspapers interpret the presence of allied warships at Piraeus as an indication that the Allies are weary of the tergiversations of Athenian politicians, and are resolved to baffle German intrigues.

An Athens message on Saturday afternoon stated that the allied squadron included cruisers and smaller vessels, accompanied by hydroplanes. The squadron, under the command of the French Admiral, continued to cruise before Piraeus. No vessel had then entered the harbour.

CHAOS AT ATHENS.

PRESS DEMANDS WAR.

The latest detailed descriptions of the situation at Athens were dated Thursday, before the arrival of the allied warships at Piraeus overshadowed the news of the Salonica insurrection. The situation was one of extraordinary chaos—the King in his sick room, the Parliamentarians dispersed, and the elections postponed.

Despite Roumanian triumphs and the happenings at Salonica, M. Zaimis still is of the opinion that a policy of benevolent neutrality is sufficient to meet the crisis. It is understood that the Venizelists now refuse to join M. Zaimis's Ministry, and share the responsibility of the present policy. The people, lacking proper leadership, are in a state of muddled despair.

The Liberal newspapers are wildly exhorting the King and Government to follow Roumania's example before it is too late owing to Bulgaria throwing up the sponge.

The "Patris" states: "Italy is becoming a great Mediterranean Power, Roumania is becoming an Empire, but Greece is led living to the tomb of the Hellenic race. Awaken, impose your will. To-morrow may be too late."

The general confusion is reflected in the army, which has just been demobilised. The personnel of the higher commands is in the melting pot, as General Dusmanis attempted to staff the army with pro-Germans when some were dismissed, but the rest form a dissident element. Other officers favour deserting their regiments and joining the Allies, but are not desirous of acting while there is a chance that Greece may declare war on the Bulgarian invaders. The retired General Lapathiotis, leader of the 1909 revolution, has appealed for volunteers for an army of salvation to drive out the Bulgars.

GREEK KING.

ABDICATION DENIED.

The Greek Minister in London denies the report of King Constantine's abdication.

Telegrams from Athens on Friday stated that King Constantine's temperature had risen, and that he was confined to bed.

A wireless message from Rome on Saturday says it is reported that the King's condition is worse.

A deputation from M. Venizelos's meeting waited on the Premier, M. Zaimis, and presented a copy of the resolution, also a protest against King Constantine's refusal to receive the deputation. M. Zaimis begged the deputation to defer further action, assuring them that the questions agitating them would soon be cleared up.

REVOLUTION.

SARRAIL INTERVENES.

GREEK TROOPS DISARMED.

A pro-Entente Committee of National Defence organised a revolution in Salonica and other towns. The Greek troops, after bloodshed, consented to disarmament on General Sarrail's intervention. The committee is now supreme in Macedonia.

The "Petit Parisien's" Salonica correspondent says the National Committee of Defence has been proclaimed as a provisional government in Macedonia. All the troops in the gendarmerie, cavalry, and artillery have adhered to the national movement.

A Salonica message to New York stated on Friday: Several Greek cities have revolted. Three regiments have mutinied. The revolutionists are besieging the Salonica garrison.

A Rome wireless message says the Greek revolution is spreading to Thessaly and Epirus. Martial law has been declared at Athens and Piraeus.

STORY OF REVOLT.

ATTACK ON BARRACKS.

Mr. Ward Price, the London press correspondent, telegraphing from Salonica on Thursday (the message being delayed), states that Wednesday's revolution had the confirmation of blood. During the night the Macedonian troops who had joined the Committee of National Defence, defying Athens, suddenly attacked the barracks in Salonica, the garrison of which had refused to join the separatists. There was a brisk rifle fire for five minutes across the parade ground. Then the attackers practically ceased fire until daybreak, when a strong force of French troops with guns hurried up to the barracks. Meanwhile the Macedonians were lying on the pavement on one side of the parade ground, the garrison being behind the wall of a fruit garden opposite. A section of the garrison at once endeavoured to come out and secure supplies, but were driven back with the loss of a few men. A body of civilian volunteers reinforced the Macedonians during the night, but were not strong enough to seize the barracks. When a thousand French troops assembled M. Zimbrakakis and other leaders of the Committee of National Defence allowed General Sarrail to control the situation.

A Paris wireless message states:—The National Committee of Defence at Salonica has interned Colonel Tricoupis, the organiser of the resistance against the Nationalist movement.

ABDICATION RUMOUR.

A message from Salonica on Friday stated: A sudden and startling solution has appeared to manifest itself in the political situation, which, in the last few days, has been lowering like a thundercloud to the point of bursting. The rumour took shape in a special edition of the paper "Angyra" announcing that King Constantine had abdicated and handed over the regency to his son, Prince George, and that M. Venizelos's position will not be official, but rather the power behind the throne.

The announcements must still be received with reserve.

The newspaper also adds:—"Greece will range herself on the side of the Allies."

The people interpret this to mean that the army will join the already polyglot army of the Orient. This depends on whether the Allied War Council desires military co-operation.

WEAKNESS OF GREECE.

It must be remembered that Greece is a divided nation. Her morale has necessarily been lowered by the long political dissensions, which only recently ceased, and the system of obstructing our military operations which led the Anglo-French commanders to take a strong line in January. The Greek army will probably need considerable revictualling and equipment before it is capable of taking the field; also Greece will make an additional nation to be taken into consideration when the difficult settlement of peace arrives. Time will quickly show whether the council of the Allies holds these considerations to be outbalanced by the military aid Greece is able to furnish.

THE NEW REGIME.

A committee of national defence has been formed in Salonica. There are considerable possibilities, although the present programme is vague.

The committee's leaders are a colonel of the artillery, a colonel of the cavalry, and a Venizelist deputy. They distributed long proclamations addressed to the Greek people and army, pointing out that the present state of affairs had lasted long enough. The surrender of the forts to the Bulgarians was a grievous misdeed on the part of the King's Government.

They add:—"The time has come for Greece to place herself on the Entente's side. The Entente has always been Greece's friends."

The proclamations are frankly revolutionary, and urge the Greek soldiers not to pay attention to orders from Athens, but to ally themselves with the Entente and assist in driving off the Bulgars from Greek soil.

There are three Greek regiments in Salonica, of which three-quarters are believed to be pro-Entente.

The influences which brought the situation to such a dramatic crisis are still shrouded in secrecy.

SURRENDER TO SARRAIL.

The fighting portion of the Macedonian revolution is now over. General Sarrail, commanding the allied forces, this morning arrived on the Greek parade ground. Fifty officers commanding the Royalist forces came out without their swords to meet him, and announced they were prepared to surrender to the Allies, but not to their Greek adversaries.

General Sarrail replied that a state of warfare in the town, which was his base and headquarters, could not be permitted to continue. General Sarrail laid down conditions, which the officers accepted, namely, to remain prisoners on parole until it had been decided what further should be done.

The officers were confined to a building in the parade ground. The men paraded with their equipment, but without arms. Their colonel inspected and shook hands with every man. In a speech of farewell he urged them to maintain strict discipline and implicitly obey the French. Then they were marched off to the French camp at Ziltenlick, and are now under French officers, where they will remain until a further decision is arrived at.

ORDER IN SALONICA.

General Sarrail now explains the action of the French troops. "Martial law was proclaimed in Salonica," he said, "and I intend to see order is preserved. Last night shots were exchanged, resulting in some soldiers being killed and wounded. Therefore the French troops were ordered to intervene to restore order."

The Allies' preparations to deal with any attempt at resistance were too complete to be defied. The French occupied the barracks after the Greeks evacuated them. The defenders in the barracks lost two killed during this morning's attack. The total casualties were three killed and two wounded. The National Committee of Defence intends to take over certain parts of the city administration, because it requires money to carry out its scheme of mobilisation in Macedonia, which the committee is undertaking. The committee's leader declares that he will not interfere with the local authorities if his followers are not molested, but on the least sign of antagonism the committee will depose the authorities, opposing force by force.

WEST FRONT.

ENEMY ATTACKS.

GERMANS LOSE HEAVILY.

ARTILLERY ACTIVE.

LONDON, Sept. 3.

General Sir Douglas Haig's final despatch on Saturday night reported increased artillery activity on both sides along the front southward of the Ancre; also on other parts of the front. A German bombing attack between the Ancre and the Somme was repulsed.

General Haig's previous report stated:—We drove out the enemy from a small area, intersected by trenches, north-west of Delville Wood, which the enemy recaptured on Thursday. Hostile artillery has been more active during the last twelve hours. There were some severe enemy bombardments, many gas shells being fired.

General Haig's mid-day report on Friday stated: We drove back, between Ginchy and High Wood, four strong attacks with heavy losses. A fifth penetrated our advanced trench at two points.

The attacks at Ginchy and High Wood were made over a front of 3000 yards, and were preceded by an intense bombardment. The front was attacked also on both sides.

We engaged enemy batteries east of Beaumino, and caused a big explosion.

We liberated gas on the Ypres salient with good results.

The Germans' casualties during Thursday's attack were very severe. Everywhere they were met with rifle fire, and they came under a concentrated fire from our trench mortars, massed machine-guns, and in several places the artillery obtained excellent targets, of which the gunners took full advantage.

There were many aerial combats on Thursday. Five enemy machines were destroyed, and several driven down, much damaged. We had several successful bombing expeditions. Five of our aeroplanes were lost.

FRENCH FRONT.

A Paris communique on Friday stated: Our coup-de-main between the Oise and the Aisne took prisoners from the trenches at Nouvron.

Our aviators are most active, despite the mist and clouds. We brought down four Germans on the Somme front.

Adjutant Dorme downed his eighth, disabled two others in an air combat, and drove down another. Our guns brought down two more. The pilots were made prisoners.

A Paris communique issued late on Friday stated: Brisk artillery duels continue on the Somme and Fleury sectors. Our special guns brought down two aeroplanes on the right bank of the Meuse, and another near Douaumont.

A Paris communique on Saturday afternoon stated: There has been considerable artillery activity on the Somme front. Violent and repeated German attacks were made against trenches won by us on August 31, south of Estrees. The enemy reoccupied some elements, suffering marked losses.

A Russian patrol, after a sharp fight, put to flight a German party north-west of Auberive.

ENEMY CLAIMS.

A German communique states:—We regained ground lost at Longueval and Delville Wood. Saxon counter-attacks on the Estrees-Soyecourt sector drove back enemy attacks. On adjacent sectors the enemy has developed artillery and patrol activity.

BAVARIAN PRISONERS.

HOW THEY SURRENDERED.

Mr. Philip Gibbs, press correspondent, writing from the British headquarters in France, referring to the surrender of 124 Bavarians mentioned in Sir Douglas Haig's recent despatch, says:—The "Ditch," as it was called, was an intermediate trench north-west of High Wood, where an advanced body of Germans were crouched. Machine guns played on each end of the trench, with an artillery barrage behind, while a thunderstorm completed the situation. Through the mist a white flag fluttered, and a tall officer came out of the quagmire. He expressed his weariness of the situation, and the way they had been "fed up," and surrendered.

The previous day the Australians took forty prisoners—a stray patrol. They dragged them out of the ruins of Moquet Farm. German machine guns wiped out 38, only two prisoners reaching our lines.

THE ITALIANS.

ENEMY SHELL GORIZIA.

LONDON, Sept. 1.

An Italian communique says: We repelled an attack in the Coalba Valley, on the right bank of the Brenta. The enemy left 100 dead and some prisoners. The enemy shelled Gorizia and hit a hospital, wounding some of the medical staff.

It is estimated that Italy holds 1380 square miles of Austrian territory in the Isonzo region.

GERMAN VESSELS.

Rome advices state that Italy has now confiscated 35 interned German steamers, totalling 142,000 tons.

MUNITION WORKS.

THE YORKSHIRE EXPLOSION.

LONDON, Sept. 1.

An official message states that the details of the explosion in a Yorkshire munitions factory show that 39 persons were killed, including the manager, and 60 persons injured. They are progressing satisfactorily.

The munition works were completely wrecked, but the patriotic and immediate energy of other manufacturers will prevent a diminution of production.

M. VENIZELOS.

ON NATIONAL IDEALS.

M. Venizelos, in a message published in the "Sunday Times," says: "Although deeply grieved that Greece has so much delayed paying her due contribution to the struggle against Prussian militarism and for the independence of smaller States, I trust the influence flowing from Roumanian intervention renders further persistence in the policy of neutrality absolutely impossible, and that Greece at the earliest moment will join the camp of her traditional friends in order to accomplish her own national ideals."

LATE WAR NEWS.

Late War Cables will be found on Page 10.

EAST FRONT.

RUSSIANS ATTACK.

NEARLY 16,000 PRISONERS

IN SEVERAL SECTORS.

LONDON, Sept. 3.

A Petrograd communique on Saturday afternoon stated: The enemy resumed the offensive south-west of Toboly, on the Stokhod, but was repulsed.

Fierce fighting continues in the direction of Vladimir-Volynski, and in the region of Sheltuvov and Korytnitza.

Further south, along the Dniester, our troops, after a battle, advanced in the direction of Zolochev and Halicz, capturing several positions. The enemy was compelled to retire westwards. He is making a stubborn resistance by counter-attacks, but these everywhere were repulsed.

We captured in the Carpathians several heights south of Voromenka, in the direction of Korohmizo.

A communique on Friday stated: In Thursday's battles we captured 15,700 prisoners, of whom 2400 were Germans. We also captured six guns and 55 machine guns.

Stubborn fighting is raging in the direction of Vladimir Volinski. In the region of Lokachi fierce enemy attacks have been made. Fighting, accompanied by uninterrupted enemy aerial reconnaissance, is proceeding. Westward of Oleksinetz one of our aeroplanes brought down an enemy machine. Fierce fighting is also proceeding in the direction of Halicz, in the region between the river and Horovanka.

We captured a whole series of heights in the Carpathians in the region of the Tomnatic Mountain. We have slightly advanced from Dorna Watra westwards.

A bullet received in the head killed Major-General Nskitin while inspecting the positions at Labusy, six miles south-east of Baranovitchi.

ENEMY REPORTS RETIREMENTS.

A German communique issued on Friday states: To the south-west of Lutsk the Russians gained ground, but were forced to withdraw before counter-attacks, leaving 409 prisoners. Near Zborov (north-west of Tarnopol) the enemy made progress on a narrow front. There have been fierce battles on a 15-miles front along the Zlota Lipa, near Nosov, and towards the Dniester. We fell back further to the south-west. A Hessian regiment broke Russian assaults in the Stanislau sector.

A German wireless message says: The Russians' repeated attacks with superior forces resulted in temporary successes at Korytnica, south-west of Lutsk. Subsequently they were driven back in disorder. We captured 1100 prisoners. We counter-attacked and gained ground north of Zborov. The Russians, after advancing north-west of Mariampol (on the Dniester), were forced to retreat.

ASIATIC CAMPAIGN.

TURKISH OFFENSIVE.

REPELLED BY RUSSIANS.

A Russian communique on Friday stated:—The Turks resumed the offensive west of Gumush Khaner, Erzingan, and Ognot, but were everywhere repelled.

Three Turkish regiments broke through our Turkestan regiment, but the gallant Turkestans immediately counter-attacked with bayonet, and reoccupied the whole position. They drove the Turks westward, inflicting severe losses.

We captured the village of Tekortuk, north of the Euphrates. Then we attacked a height to the south-west, and drove the Turks into a ravine with the bayonet. The enemy fled in wild disorder.

The latest Russian communique says: The Turkish offensive west of Gumush Khaneh has been arrested. The enemy fled, suffering great losses. We are pressing the Turks in the Sakkiz region, in the direction of Mosul.

BRITISH BOMBING RAIDS.

The British War Office announces that two successful bombing raids were made by aeroplanes on the Tigris.

THE BLOCKADE.

CRITICISM OF STATISTICS.

LONDON, Sept. 1.

With reference to statistics quoted by certain sections of the press on the question of the efficiency of the British blockade, the War Trade Statistical Department points out that in one case the figures quoted relate only to one week's exports from a single port in the United States to Holland and Scandinavia, and is by no means representative of the total exports from the United States thither over a long period. In the first five months of 1915 these were worth 205,614,000 dollars, compared with 110,670,000 dollars for the corresponding period of 1916. The Department also points out that Dutch imports of meat from England had been almost entirely used for relief in Belgium.

Dutch exports of margarine to Germany the first six months of 1916 had only increased by 394 tons, whereas the exports to England had increased by 45,867 tons. Supplies of Dutch butter had been diverted from England to Germany, because the latter gladly pays higher prices.

NORWEGIAN SHIPS.

LEASED TO BRITAIN.

A REPORT FROM BERLIN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.

The Berlin correspondent of the "New York Times" says there is resentment in Berlin owing to a report that Norwegian shipowners have closed a contract to place at the immediate disposal of the British Government 50 steamers, of a total of 150,000 tons. It is believed that the contract is for a year, and the rate four or five shillings above current rates. Germany sees in this another move in Britain's economic war.

HERO OF THE AIR.

FOUGHT SIX GERMANS.

LONDON, Sept. 3.

Lieutenant Robert Burleigh, son of Mr. Bennett Burleigh, who was killed recently, fought six German aeroplanes single handed.

ZEPPELIN FALLS IN FLAMES.

RAID ON LONDON.

BOMBS ON FEW PLACES.

LONDON, Sept. 3.

It is officially stated that shortly before 11 o'clock last night several airships attacked the Eastern Coast, and dropped bombs at a few places.

The airships were more numerous than in any previous raid on the eastern counties and London. Apparently the objective was London.

The enemy were beaten off and a raider brought down in flames. Many bombs were dropped in widely-separated localities.

A Zeppelin crossed an East Coast town without dropping bombs. Later, several flashes were seen and two or three reports heard. Others sailed over the coast at a great height and dropped bombs.

The Zeppelin which was brought down in the London district descended in flames in the open. Many witnessed the incident. Large crowds in the suburbs cheered loudly, and the cheers were repeated by groups of watchers along miles of thoroughfares. The news quickly spread over the whole of London.

THE WORLD'S PEACE.

AMERICA'S POSITION.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S IDEAL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.

President Wilson at Long Branch, a New Jersey town, on Friday afternoon formally accepted the Democratic nomination for the office of President. During the notification ceremonies at the summer capital he said:—"In foreign affairs I have been guided by principles clearly conceived and consistently followed. We have been neutral because it was the fixed traditional policy of the United States to stand aloof from the politics of Europe—because we had no part in the influences which brought on the war. It was our duty to prevent, if possible, an indefinite extension of the fires of hate and desolation kindled by the terrible conflict, and to reserve our strength and resources for the anxious and difficult days of restoration and healing which must follow. When the rights of our citizens became involved this was our guiding principle, that property rights can be vindicated by claims for damages when war is over, but that the fundamental rights of humanity cannot be; therefore loss of life is irreparable. Neither can direct violation of a nation's sovereignty, which await vindication by suits for damages, be repaired. The nation violating these essential rights must expect to be checked and called to account by direct challenge and resistance."

President Wilson rebuked the German-Americans, and strongly condemned "the passions and intrigues of certain active groups and combinations of men, who, born under foreign flags, injected poison and disloyalty into our affairs, and laid violent hands on many of our industries. These things must be made impossible hereafter. I do not seek the favour, nor do I fear the displeasure, of a small alien element which primarily is loyal to a foreign Power."

Referring to the end of the war, President Wilson said:—"There must be a just and settled peace. We here in America must contribute the full force of our enthusiasm and our authority as a nation to the organisation of that peace upon worldwide foundations that cannot be easily shaken. No nation should be forced to take sides in any quarrel in which its own honour and integrity and the fortunes of its own people are not involved, but no nation can any longer remain neutral as against any wilful disturbance of the peace of the world. The nations of the world must unite in joint guarantees that whatever is done to disturb the whole world's life must first be tested in the court of the whole world's opinion before it is attempted."

President Wilson added:—"Effective measures will be undertaken for the recreation of the American merchant marine, the revival of the American carrying trade, and its emancipation from the control which foreigners so long have exercised over it."

FREE BUFFETS.

NEW MILITARY ORDER.

LONDON, Sept. 1.

Some surprise has been caused by the rigorous enforcement of a military order declaring that the free refreshment buffets at the London railway termini shall not be available to soldiers who are not travelling. Hitherto these buffets, which are maintained by voluntary subscriptions, have been open to all soldiers seeking refreshment. Now military police are posted outside, and only admit those making a journey. Even wounded or discharged soldiers are excluded.

One lady superintendent who was interviewed declared: "It is rather hard that men on leave, especially Australians, New Zealanders, and Canadians, should not be permitted at all times to partake of our hospitality. It is good to see them mixing with their English comrades. Even if they can afford to pay, we felt that the mingling of all the troops must have a powerful influence for good. It was common to hear an oversea soldier during an altercation with a Tommy say, 'At any rate, I'm not a bob-a-day soldier.' Lately an excellent understanding had grown up, and it would be a pity to prevent the feeling developing." It was pointed out that the Anzac buffet is now the only place in London where the Australian troops were entertained without charge.

The buffet is being removed to Victoria-street, near the High Commissioner's office, consisting of a large shop basement. Australian war trophies and produce will be exhibited in the window of the buffet, which will be opened on September 11.

The Australian Natives also hope to open a club in Oxford-street, with forty beds and large recreation rooms. The premises have been offered to the Australians rent free.

ROLL OF HONOUR.

Captain John Albert Hunter-Brown, of the Gordon Highlanders, has been killed in action. He was a grandson of the late Mr Albert V. Drury, clerk of the Executive Council in Queensland, and was educated at the Brisbane Grammar School.

EAST AFRICA.

"VIRTUALLY ENDED."

ROUNDING UP THE REMNANTS.

LONDON, Sept. 2.

The campaign against the Germans in East Africa is virtually ended.

It only remains for the British and Belgians to round up the remnants of the scattered German forces.

General Smuts, commanding the British forces in German East Africa, reports that the enemy is in full retreat east and west of the Uluguru mountains, and southward of Mrogoro a smaller party, including the German Headquarters Staff and the provisional government. The pursuit is being pressed. Part of the enemy's heavy artillery has been destroyed or hidden. A naval gun was found destroyed by explosives.

The enemy abandoned at Mrogoro many sick and wounded, also European women and children. Mrogoro is the most important town hitherto occupied. It is the centre of a prosperous plantation district, and hitherto was the seat of the provisional government. The central railway is virtually intact owing to the rapidity of our advance.

DURATION OF WAR.

WINTER CAMPAIGN.

REGARDED AS INEVITABLE.

LONDON, Sept. 3.

The "Daily Telegraph's" correspondent at Petrograd states that General Shuvaeff, the Russian War Minister, when interviewed, said the enemy was seriously damaged, but not finally broken. The Allies must increase their munitions and equipments, He added that a winter campaign was inevitable.

SIX MONTHS MORE.

ROUMANIAN VIEW.

The "Daily Telegraph's" Athens correspondent recalls that a year ago M. Bratiano said, "When you hear that Roumania enters the war, if I am Premier, you may be sure I have made myself secure of victory ten times over before I plunge the country into the struggle, and that the duration of the war thereafter will not exceed six months. I am of the opinion that the Balkan nations cannot sustain wars of longer duration."

THE FINAL STRUGGLE.

GERMAN WAR LOAN APPEAL.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 2.

An appeal which is featured in every German newspaper in connection with the new war loan declares:—"The war has reached a stage when decisive events may be expected. The enemy's efforts are approaching high-water mark. Now, more than ever, Germany must employ her whole efforts for the coming final struggle. This loan, more than earlier loans, will decide the approximate length of the war. The enemy fights with rancour, cowardice, illegality, hypocrisy, and mendacity. Germany must answer with hard blows."

LABOUR AFTER THE WAR

PROBLEMS ANTICIPATED.

At the Trades Union Congress, Mr. Dudley, representing 70,000 trades unionists, demanded a special session of Parliament to discuss post-war problems connected with the displacement of labour, the disbandment of the army, and the reorganisation of industry.

One speaker predicted that one-fourth of the workers would be unemployed, and, in the absence of timely measures, thousands would return to empty cupboards and fireless hearths. The workers wanted "the right to work."

BRITISH POLICY.

PRESS DISCUSSION.

LONDON, Sept. 1.

The "Nation" newspaper, discussing peace prospects, says that "if the contest is pursued to the last man and the last shilling it will be world ruin. We shall be urged to take a short cut and limit the contest by destroying the Central Powers—eliminating them from the economic comity of Europe. We believe this to be politically a 'no thoroughfare,' and if we pursue it we shall meet impoverishment and death."

SUBMARINES.

GERMAN VESSEL SUNK.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 3.

A German submarine was sunk off Sonderburg. Several of the crew were killed.

Swedish captains report that the Germans are imitating British anti-submarine methods in the North Sea.

SUEZ CANAL.

The Press Bureau reports: Hostile aeroplanes bombed Port Said on Friday, causing some casualties, but no damage otherwise was done.

We found a further three machine guns and 15,000 rounds of ammunition at Katia.

MERCHANT SHIPPING.

LONDON, Sept. 3.

The steamer Star of Scotland, which left Sydney on June 20, has arrived at London. The ship Milverton and the 4-m bq. Kinross-shire have arrived at Queenstown. The ship Duquesne has arrived at Pauillac.

The steamer Lycaon has left for Adelaide, and the steamer Gryfevale for Wellington.

MISCELLANEOUS.

With a view to preventing communication with warships Sweden has prohibited German merchantmen in Swedish harbours from using their wireless.

The King invested General Sellheim with the C.M.G. at Windsor Castle to-day.

Mr. W. A. Redmond, M.P., missed his foothold in the darkness and fell eight feet into a communication trench, dislocating a shoulder and breaking a collarbone.

COMMAND OF THE SEA

BRITAIN SAFE.

THE WORK ON THE CLYDE.

INTERESTING DISCLOSURES.

LONDON, Sept. 3.

Mr. Alfred Noyes, in his fourth article (copyrighted) on British naval activities, describes a visit to the Clyde, where there were pneumatic riveters and a range of a hundred ships, in forest-like yards. Here lay the slipway wherein the Lusitania was born: and all around, the cradles of her avengers are stretching, mile after mile. Hammers rattled and roared, in a deafening crescendo, drowning all speech, from dawn to sunset and from sunset to dawn.

Mr. Noyes proceeds: England lost eight destroyers in the Jutland battle. I saw a shipyard from whence, that same week, they launched 15 destroyers. I saw brood after brood of ships, in yard after yard, each ready to follow the other. No sooner is one launched than another is laid down.

England is taking no risks in keeping command of the sea. If we lost half of our fleet to-morrow, we would still have a fleet as large as that we started the war with. And there are many more ships to follow. Never was there building like this in the history of the world. I saw, nearing completion in this one cradle, a fleet of destroyers, a fleet of submarines, and a fleet of battle-cruisers, which would have constituted a formidable navy for any country.

MYSTERY SHIPS.

There are certain mystery ships here also—a new type around which screens are built against inquisitive eyes. I saw several submarines, larger than any hitherto built, and battle-cruisers which may outstrip any ship in the world, and which are considerably larger than any battleships now in existence. These battle-cruisers have already carried an armament of gigantic guns, which seemed able to shelter a world.

WOMEN'S SPLENDID WORK.

Mr. Noyes pays a glowing tribute to the women workers. He saw them heaving great shells, and drawing red-hot copper bands from furnaces with a steady fervour, hour after hour. They seem to lavish all the passion of motherhood upon work which was so great that it seemed as if it would exhaust any human energy. Their work only ceases when hostile aircraft make a raid. Whenever there has been a raid, the women are lined up and marched to appointed places, quietly and steadily. Many have dropped at work—casualties on a proud roll of honour, many of these women have been disfigured in handling dangerous chemicals, but they triumph in their work.

Mr. Noyes saw a significant thing on the Clyde, which was one unadvertised result of the Jutland battle. Work on merchant ships had been almost abandoned during the two previous years. It has been resumed since Jutland. Hammers are rattling on the sides of a dozen great liners, while cargo-carriers of all kinds keep hundreds of men busy. Unless he was grievously deceived, the trans-Atlantic service will soon be considerably improved.

Mr. Noyes deplores the attention that has been focussed on so-called labour troubles on the Clyde. He points out that work goes on during long shifts unceasingly, night and day. There is neither dawn nor sunset, week day nor Sabbath, on the Clyde now, nor will there be till victory comes.

GHENT BOMBED BY AIRMEN.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 1.

Allied airmen bombed workshops in Ghent, and killed 22 persons and injured 40.

MR. RAMSAY MACDONALD.

LONDON, Sept. 1.

The Moray Golf Club has expelled Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, M.P., on account of his public utterances on the war.

WAR NOTES.

PROGRESS OF THE ROUMANIANS.

Considering the difficult nature of the mountainous country through which the Roumanians are marching, the results secured in Transylvania are most satisfactory. The preparations which had been made before the decision to declare war had been arrived at gave them a tremendous advantage, and were largely responsible for the easy capture of the main passes leading through the mountains into Transylvania. The forward rush from the northern half of Roumania (Moldavia) appears to have been made through Tolgies, Palanka, and Oitos passes. The Roumanians overcame any resistance they met here, and in the course of their advance their right soon linked up with the Russians moving down to the south-west from Dorna Vatra. From the southern half, or Wallachia, they advanced northwards along the valley of the Prahova River through Predeal Pass to Brasso, which was captured. Farther west they also moved northward along the valley of the River Altz, through Roterturm Pass, towards Hermannstadt. There are further signs of the enemy's intention to sacrifice portion of Eastern Transylvania here, and, if the reports of the proposed evacuation of towns, emanating in some cases from the Austrians themselves, are correct, they would seem to be prepared to withdraw in the long run from quite a large slice of territory. In the north they are said to be evacuating Bistritz before the advancing Russians. Another message suggests that Maros Vasarhely, almost due south of Bistritz, is being evacuated, and the enemy themselves admit that they have evacuated Hermannstadt, farther south again. Of course this does not mean that they will not defend these towns, or that they are immediately falling back from the whole of the country east of them. It is evident, however, that the civilian population is being removed farther west, and that the Roumanians are expected to advance in this direction. Farther to the south-west a Roumanian move is being made along the valley of the Jiu River towards the Banat, a stretch of country lying to the west of the centre of Wallachia, and of which Temesvar is the principal town. This latter advance still seems to be meeting with the most serious resistance of all. The railway from Bucharest runs along the northern bank of the Danube, here, for some considerable distance, and, after crossing the Roumanian border, takes a turn to the north close to the town of Orsova. This railway crosses to the western bank of the River Czerna, a few miles north of Orsova, and then continues on its way to the north and north-west until it reaches Temesvar, which town is said to be one of Roumania's objectives.

POSITION ALONG THE DANUBE.

At present attention is apparently being directed towards Orsova. Here the Roumanians are reported to be shelling the railway station, which is actually about 2½ miles to the north-east of the centre of the town, being situated on the Bucharest-Temesvar railway line mentioned above. The enemy appears to be particularly anxious to prevent any advance in this direction, but it is not yet clear whether the anxiety is due to the fear that, as one message says, the capture of Orsova will open the road along the Danube to Belgrade, or that it will facilitate the general advance towards Temesvar. However, both of these places are still a long way off, Belgrade being at least 95 miles due west of Orsova, and Temesvar about the same distance due north-west. One of the cablegrams suggests that the extra resistance experienced by the Roumanians here may be attributed to the enemy's desire to attack Roumania eventually from this point. It is suggested that Field-Marshal von Hindenburg, while merely holding on in the west, intends to deliver a blow at the heart of Roumania from this direction in order to punish her for throwing in her lot with the Entente. Bulgaria has eventually been induced to declare war upon Roumania, and apparently she is again to play the same role as she did in the case of Servia's punishment. If the Central Powers were able to attack Roumania from the west along the Danube Bulgaria's duty would, in all probability, be confined to an attack from the south on Roumania's left flank. The circumstances have changed greatly since the task of crushing Servia was commenced, however, and it is very doubtful whether the Central Powers can now obtain the men required for a similar attack on Roumania. Germany needs most of the men at her disposal to continue to hang on against the French and British attacks in the west, and to hold her long line against the Russians in the east. Bulgaria should be too fully occupied in meeting the Russians, who are advancing on her from the north, and the Allies moving up from the south, to be able to spare forces for a flank attack on Roumania. The chances of Roumania being treated as Servia was are therefore very remote, and Roumania appears to have made sure of this before declaring war.

SITUATION IN GREECE.

As far as the news from Greece is concerned, it is difficult to sort out the grain from the chaff. King Constantine, who was at first reported to have abdicated, now appears to be vainly endeavouring to elude his wrathful subjects. The reports regarding his state of health may be more trustworthy than those announcing his flight, but his general attitude since Roumania's declaration of war against Austria has been suggestive of the methods of the ostrich. At the present moment Greece is as a house divided against itself. There is no doubt that a large section of the people is anxious to see the Government take the momentous step, which, although it must necessarily lead to bloodshed, is the only course open to them if Greece is to take her place in the future alongside such Balkan States as Servia and Roumania. The people seem to be satisfied as to the direction in which their inclinations, their interests, and their duty to themselves and their old Allies lie. Although the revolution reported this morning does not appear to have extended throughout the whole country, it should certainly act as a straw to show King Constantine how the wind is blowing. General Sarrail's tactful handling of the situation which presented itself in Salonica shows that a general uprising of the Greeks at the present time would hardly accord with the Allies' plans. A united Greece, standing on the side of the Entente Powers, would be a useful and most effective ally at the present time, but Greece in a state of revolution and civil war would be about as much use to the Allies as Germany hoped a riotous Ireland would be to her. King Constantine appears to be determined to equivocate to the finish, and the question now confronting the Greeks—and apparently the Allies also—is as to what means can be taken to make him and those under him give effect to the wishes of his people. M. Venizelos is the man of the hour in Greece at present, but, owing to the suspension of the elections, he has little official standing. M. Vaimis, the Premier, is apparently still in favour of half measures—a policy which has landed Greece in her present unenviable position—and as a result of which he has lost the confidence and support of M. Venizelos. It remains for the Allies to find a way out for Greece, and it is to be hoped that the Allied fleet off the Piraeus will succeed in bringing King Constantine to a more reasonable and kingly frame of mind.

GERMANY'S LOST RAIDER.

We can well understand the jubilation of those who witnessed the rare sight of a flaming Zeppelin dashing to earth near London during the air raid reported this morning. Since the war broke out there have been more than thirty separate Zeppelin raids over England, and we have frequently heard much about the apparent inability of the British anti-aircraft guns to deal with such raids. The Zeppelins have come across the North Sea, dropped their bombs and departed in many cases undamaged. There were, of course, a few exceptions when Zeppelins did not return unscathed. These, however, were usually able to struggle part of the way home before they settled down into the sea or fell on neutral territory. Amongst these were the L3, which came down in February, 1915, during her return journey from the English coast, and became a wreck off Fano, Denmark. The L15, which was hit by gun-fire and came down in the Thames estuary on April 1 last, and the L20, which was hit during a raid on the north-east coast and became a total wreck at Stavanger, Norway, were other memorable instances of raiders which came to grief after bombing defenceless towns. But never before has a Zeppelin actually been brought to earth in England. The L15 came nearest to doing so, but although she fell comparatively close to the shore, she sank before she could be salvaged. No details as to how the latest victim was secured had been received up to a late hour last night, but there is little doubt that her destruction was largely due to improvements in the British anti-aircraft guns. We have recently been officially informed that a surprise has been awaiting the Zeppelin raiders in England, and the latest success proves that this was not idle talk.

THREE PERSONS DROWNED

MOTOR CAR AND SULKY.

CRASH ON A VEHICLE FERRY.

NEWCASTLE, Sunday

A sensational accident occurred at Stockton at 6 o'clock this evening, resulting in the drowning of Mr. Edward John Dyer, of Morgan-street, Merewether, and his wife, Mrs. Alice Esther Dyer, and a few months' old baby. Mr. and Mrs. Dyer and child were in a sulky, and had driven on to the front of the new vehicle ferry steamer at Stockton. A motor car owned and driven by Mr. Horace Cohen, of the firm of David Cohen and Co., and containing Mrs. Horace Cohen, Mrs. Harry M. Cohen, and a young lady from Sydney, the week-end guest of the Cohen's, got out of control on the ferry.

After striking the side of the ferry steamer the motor car crashed into the sulky. The horse and sulky, together with the occupants, were pushed over the raised flap of the steamer and fell into the water, followed by the motor car and its occupants.

A launch from the Seamen's Mission was passing, and, arriving on the scene a few seconds after the accident, succeeded in rescuing Mrs. H. M. Cohen. Mrs. Horace Cohen and her guest were rescued with the aid of lifebuoys from the steamer. Mr. Horace Cohen succeeded in reaching the shore. Nothing was seen, however, of the occupants of the sulky. No one saw Mr. Dyer after he fell into the water. The motor car was a new one, and had been in use only two days. The police and divers were soon on the scene, but up to 10 o'clock to-night the bodies had not been recovered.

LATE WAR NEWS.

ZEPPELINS.

EAST COAST RAID.

LONDON, Sept. 3.

An official message states that 13 airships took part in the air raid on the East Coast. Three airships approached London. One was engaged and downed near Enfield.

The damage and casualties were not heavy, considering the number of raiders.

BRITISH FRONT.

GROUND GAINED.

LONDON, Sept. 3.

General Sir Douglas Haig in his noon report of Sunday says:—The night generally was quiet. Fighting took place this morning near Moquet Farm, southward of Thiepval, on the banks of the Ancre, and at Falfemont Farm, upon our right. We gained ground in these operations.

We last night successfully raided trenches northward of Monchy, taking prisoners.

GREEK CRISIS.

NOTE FROM ENTENTE MINISTERS.

ATHENS, Sept. 3.

The Entente Ministers this afternoon will hand to the Greek Premier, M. Zaimis, a Note that is expected to clear up the situation without delay.

BULGARIA.

SUSPICIOUS OF ROUMANIA.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 3.

The Bulgarian Premier, M. Radoslavoff, is withholding passports from the Roumanian Minister—who is now due to leave Sofia—until the Bulgarian Minister arrives from Bucharest.

RECRUITING.

BELOW REQUIREMENTS.

One hundred and two men volunteered yesterday, and 81 were accepted.

The men of the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Light Horse are holding a reunion on Saturday in the form of a dinner. The returned men of these regiments who wish to attend should send their names to Trooper J. Sheehan, c/o Searl's, King-street, before Wednesday.

In spite of the drop in recruiting which occurred last Thursday and Friday, the total for the week just ended can hardly be considered in any other light than encouraging; but even this total (834) is far short of what New South Wales must find each week before the end of the month. The Prime Minister states that this State's quota is 11,200 for September alone, and this means recruits at the rate of 370 a day, whereas the daily figures last week in no instance came within 50 per cent. of this required minimum. The figures were:—Sunday, 73; Monday, 179; Tuesday, 156; Wednesday, 178; Thursday, 84; Friday, 70; and Saturday, 94. Certainly 834 seems a good week, but it is lamentably short of what the Minister states must be done. He demands 2590 a week as the quota of this State, and in an official statement last week added that if the recruiting committees and agencies could not provide this total other measures would have to be taken. He would accept volunteers up till the last day of this month, but this was the final opportunity for volunteering.

CITY AND SUBURBS.

Nine recruits were secured by Sergeants Durand and Saunders as the result of an appeal to the employees of the British-Australasian Tobacco Company, Kensington.

Sergeant Galli, Sergeant Donald, and Corporal Stead addressed meetings at Mitchell-street and Bay-street, Glebe, on Friday night. Four men gave in their names.

To-day, at noon, Sergeants Galli and Donald will make an appeal at the State Timber Works, Ubr's Point.

IN OTHER STATES.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

There were 192 volunteers yesterday, but only 52 were accepted. The week's figures were:—Volunteered, 1040; accepted, 353.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

During August 744 men were accepted for service in Queensland. For the present month about seven times last month's totals are required.

ADELAIDE, Sunday.

In Adelaide on Saturday 48 volunteers presented themselves, and of these 22 were accepted.

GOULBURN CAMP.

General Ramaciotti, V.D., the District Commandant, has returned to Sydney, after a visit to Goulburn camp.

"Everything was very satisfactory," said the General, "and the fine weather has been a great help, so much so that there were only four patients in the hospital, and no complaints."

LIQUOR EMBARGO.

A proclamation issued by the Minister for Defence on Saturday was posted up in the hotels within a five-mile radius of Liverpool camp. It set out that as the sale of consumption off the premises of intoxicating liquor within five miles of the Liverpool Camp was considered to be prejudicial to the health and discipline of the troops, the Minister had decided that liquor is not to be sold for consumption off the premises.

The regulation applies to Liverpool, Fairfield, Cabramatta, and Glenfield hotels, and affects both civilians and soldiers.

A deputation of hotelkeepers in connection with the matter is to wait upon Colonel Miller at Liverpool camp to-day.

WRECKED.

TONGARIRO IN HOPELESS POSITION.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Sunday.

The position of the New Zealand Company's Tongariro, which struck Bull Rock at the northern end of Hawkes Bay, is now regarded as hopeless. She lies between three rocks, and is sinking slowly. She will probably break up or slip off before long. There is a big split right down from the bow. The engine-room and some of the holds are flooded, but the chances of salving the cargo above water are considered good, provided the weather remains calm. Small steamers left Napier last night for the wreck, taking with them the necessary equipment.

FIRE AT ULTIMO.

Soon after midnight a fire broke out at the premises of William White, printer, 570 Harris-street, Ultimo. The building, of brick, with an iron roof, consists of two floors and a basement. The front portion on the ground floor, used as the shop, was badly damaged by fire, and the rest of the building suffered from heat and smoke.

ONE BIG UNION.

CONFERENCE HELD.

PRINCIPLE AFFIRMED.

Representatives of 41 trades unions met in conference at the Trades Hall on Saturday to discuss the proposed One Big Union scheme. Among the organisations represented were the central branch of the Australian Workers' Union, the Amalgamated Railway and Tramway Service Association, the Railway Workers and General Labourers' Union, the Seamen's Union, the Coal-lumpers' Union, the Builders' Labourers' Federation, the Federated Enginedrivers and Firemen's Association, the Shop Assistants' Union, the Illawarra Miners' Federation, the Coal and Shale Workers' Federation, and the Boot Trade Employees' Union. It was stated that the unions represented have a membership of about 150,000.

Mr. P. Adler, secretary of the Blacksmiths' Union, who presided, and Mr. A. C. Willis, of the Coal and Shale Workers' Federation, explained the scheme which had been drawn up by a committee. This provided for the linking up of the whole of the existing trades unions into 18 groups, each group consisting of unions engaged in particular branches of industry. A group council, representing each separate union, would manage the interests of its own particular group, and a central council, consisting of delegates from each of the 18 group councils, would manage the whole of the union.

Mr. Willis stated that their ideals must be nothing less than the taking over of the whole of the means of production and wealth. The movement must also be educational, so that the members would be in a position to take over the management of things necessary for the upkeep of the nation. "We are the nation," he proceeded, "but we have allowed a few individuals to take over the best brains from among ourselves to manage our affairs for them. We are on the eve of great changes, and I believe that if the democracy of Australia is sufficiently alive to its opportunities we can lead the world in schemes for the emancipation of the workers generally. If this scheme, or something akin to it, is adopted, the central council of the movement will be the management committee of the nation."

A motion that the conference affirmed the principle of one big union for the whole of the workers of Australia, based on industrial and allied trade lines, was carried by 58 votes to two. Several of the delegates did not vote, not having been authorised to do so by their respective organisations. The following committee was appointed to draft a constitution:—Messrs. W. O'Brien (Trades and Labour Council and Furniture Trades), A. C. Willis (Coal and Shale Workers), A. Rutherford (Saddlers), C. Pattinson (Illawarra Miners), J. Lenehan (Progressive Carpenters), P. Bowling (Federated Iron Workers), and Mrs K. Dwyer (Women Workers). When the constitution is drafted it will be submitted to all the unions, which will be asked to send delegates to a further conference.

NEWTOWN SCHOOL OF ARTS.

OPENED BY PREMIER.

The newly-erected Newtown School of Arts was opened by the Premier on Saturday night. The building, which has extensive frontage to Eliza-street, is less than 100 yards from the railway station. It cost about £2600, and is replete with facilities for its 410 members.

The banquet, which was held in the lecture hall, was attended by over 200 members and guests. Dr. G. Hall Bohrsmann, the president, was in the chair. Mr. G. Crocker, vice-president, proposed "The Ministry and Parliament."

Mr. Holman, in replying, said one might be pardoned for sighing over the departed glories of the old Mechanics' Institutes, when they were all democrats together. It was good to note that culture was spreading, gradually from the mechanics to all the other classes of society. The Premier recalled the fact that he had been a mechanic working at the bench in Newtown. That was about a quarter of a century ago—and he confessed that it was as far back as that since he had done any honest labour. (Laughter.) In those idyllic days he was a member of the Sydney Mechanics' School of Arts, and of its famous debating club. He was also a member of the library committee. He debated a lot and read a lot. To the exchange of ideas and his reading in the library he owed a great deal.

Continuing, Mr. Holman referred to Mr. Hollis, Mr. Hall, and Mr. Crawford, M.L.A., as instances of successful self-made men, who had risen from the ranks by industry and study, and who were filled with information on many subjects. Schools of Arts provided splendid social gathering places. There men could meet in the billiard-room, the library, or class rooms. If there were more facilities of this sort for social intercourse there would be less necessity for the recent restrictions placed on other forms of amusement. (Applause.) This was a time when the intellect of the race was suffering a tremendous shock; when scientists, writers, and artists were carrying rifles, and engaged in cutting throats. Unless every precaution was taken, there would be a great failing off in the literary and intellectual standards, which would react on the next generation. Many of the great men referred to were falling at the front. If that went on it must lessen the intellectual fibre of the race. It was imperative, therefore, that apart from schools, adults should strive to improve their minds.

Mr. R. Hollis, M.L.A., and Mr. A. Graff, M.L.A., also responded.

The chairman proposed "Great Britain and her Allies." He said that Britain had proved herself great in the present crisis, and was a veritable mother country to the weaker nations. One benefit of the war would be the levelling of the barrier between those of lineal descent and the workers.

After the Premier had unveiled a roll of honour containing 29 names of members of the School of Arts, Alderman C. H. Turtle (Mayor of Newtown) proposed "The Day We Celebrate."

STATE ELECTIONS.

ELECTORAL LISTS.

State electoral lists for the following electorates have been forwarded for exhibition at every post-office, court-house, and police station within each district:—Armidale, Bingara, Burwood, Canterbury, Castlereagh, Durham, Gough, Kahibah, Raleigh, Randwick, Redfern, Surry Hills, Tenterfield, Upper Hunter.

THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY.

DUBBO, Sunday.

At a conference of delegates from the Farmers and Settlers' Association in the Castlereagh electorate, Mr. George Berryman, of Narromine, secretary of the Castlereagh F. and S. District Council, was selected to contest the Castlereagh seat in the Progressive interest. There were three other candidates for selection, two of them being in khaki, Lieutenant Lee and Sergeant Melville.

So far only two nominations have been received for the Progressive party's candidate for the Macquarie—Mr. A. E. Hunt, of Wyoming, Nevertire, ex-president of the Farmers and Settlers' Association of New South Wales; and Mr. R. P. Tweedy, of Quamby, Morganbon.

BATTLEPLANES.

The New South Wales Government has presented to the War Office four battle-planes, representing the duplication of battle-planes presented to date by citizens of New South Wales. The duplicated battle-planes are to be inscribed:—New South Wales, No. 5, "Government" (duplicating "The White, Belltrees," New South Wales, No. 1), £2700; New South Wales, No. 6, "Government" (duplicating "The White, Edenglassie," New South Wales, No. 2), £2700; New South Wales No. 7, "Government" (duplicating "The Mrs. P. Kirby and Son," New South Wales, No. 3), £2700; New South Wales, No. 8, "Government" (duplicating "The F. J. White, Saumarez and Baldblair," New South Wales, No. 4), £2700. Total, £10,800.

The New South Wales Government has decided to present funds to the British War Office through the Australian air squadrons account at the Bank of England for building a duplicate battle-plane for every New South Wales citizen battle-plane presented to his Majesty's Government. The Government battle-planes will be numbered consecutively as presented.

ARMIDALE, Sunday.

At a special meeting held in the Armidale Council-chambers, the Mayor (Alderman Curtis) presiding, it was decided to open a battle-plane fund, and a committee was formed to organise the movement. Over £105 was promised at the meeting.

NO STRIKE.

AMERICAN CRISIS.

EIGHT HOURS GRANTED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.

Congress has passed the bill granting railwaymen an eight hours' day. The danger of all the railwaymen in the United States being called out on strike on Monday has thereby been averted.

Earlier messages said that the railway directors declare that the measure is confiscatory, Congress having no power to enforce a wage scale upon private corporations. An appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court to test the matter under the Constitution.

The action by Congress is considered an important victory for organised labour. It is the first time Congress has accepted the dictation of trades unions concerning wage regulation. The public is suspending judgment until it is ascertained whether the wage increases will come from the pockets of the public.

President Wilson announces his belief that the crisis has passed.

The House of Representatives passed the bill by 239 votes to 56.

The Senate passed the bill by 43 votes to 28.

The railwaymen's order to strike has been rescinded.

The majority for the bill in the House of Representatives included 70 Republicans.

The president of the Amalgamated Federation of Labour, Mr. Samuel Gompers, says that this is Labour's greatest triumph. He praised the attitude of the Wilson Administration towards labour.

The railway managers assert that the bill will cost the railways £12,000,000 a year in extra wages. Higher freights will increase the cost of living. Thus the public will pay.

SAILING SHIPS.

CHARTERS FOR AUSTRALIA.

LONDON, Sept. 1.

A few more sailing ships have been chartered for Australian wheat. The number probably would have been much larger, but as Commonwealth steamers are loading at New York for Australia there is no inducement for sailing ships to load in New York. It is stated that a year ago there were about twenty sailing ships on berth in New York for Australia. Now there are none.

PANAMA CANAL.

BLOCKED BY LAND SLIDE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.

A slide 200 feet wide at Cucaracha has blocked the Panama Canal.

No vessels have passed through since Wednesday.

STEAMER GARRYVALE.

LONDON, Sept. 1.

The steamer Garryvale, from Sydney to Las Palmas, which put into Algoa Bay leaking, has resailed. The surveyor considers her repairs are sufficient to enable her to complete her voyage.

BILLIARDS.

LONDON, Sept. 1.

In the second round of the snooker pool amateur championship Driver Fay, of the Australian Army Service Corps, billiards ex-champion of New South Wales, easily beat Allison by 63 to 28 and 70 to 15, Allison retiring.

Fay's hazard striking was excellent. He had a bye in the first round.

AMERICAN TENNIS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.

In the Forest Hill tennis contests George Church defeated the American ex-champion, McLoughlin by 57-61 and 62-63. Murray defeated Church by 35-46 and 63-64.

FINANCIAL.

STATE LOAN EXPENDITURE.

The expenditure from loans is still rising. Last month it was £842,365 from the general loan account, less repayments amounting to £909. In July the expenditure on the same account was £602,794. On the average of the two months the general loan expenditure is well over eight millions a year, without taking into account the cost of railway duplication, which will absorb about another million from the railway loan account. A feature of this month's loan expenditure is the amount expended in anticipation of loan votes, viz.—£414,266. Of that amount £30,025 was paid on account of city and suburban railways land resumptions and costs.

THE LEDGER BALANCES.

An examination of the ledger balances shows a considerably worse situation than a month ago. On all accounts at the end of July there was a net credit balance of £632,514. At the end of August that credit balance had shrunk to £84,704. The general loan account is now overdrawn to the extent of £4,867,222. The comparison is as follows:—

A FARMER'S INCOME.

Country writes:—

Sir,—There have been many questions asked and answered in your columns recently, on the Federal Income Tax, but there is another I would crave space to put. Is it not possible for some means to be devised whereby the taxpayer may be relieved of the intolerable burden of having to fill up the forms now prescribed—both for Federal and State tax? I am sure many people would willingly pay double the amount they are liable for if the rendering of the return could be avoided. They may be simple enough to a business concern, where all items are classified, and totals readily obtained by reference to a ledger. But take the case of a farmer. Very few farmers keep books; they cannot be expected to. They have no time to be clerks as well as farmers; and when a farmer has to sit down and make out one of these returns, or to ask someone to do it with him, I can assure you it is a most difficult task. I have had considerable experience of this, and I am sure, Sir, were you to come to the country, and assist a farmer in preparing one of these returns, you would agree with me that the position is intolerable. Fancy asking a farmer for a detailed list of repairs to machinery, and for the past three years—list after list of a similar nature is required in this return. The position is this—the farmer sets down his receipts in the return readily enough, and then has to waste hours of valuable time in setting out deductions under the multitudinous headings called for, and, mind you, the result thus obtained could have been approximately arrived at the outset without setting forth any detail at all. Cannot the Legislature enact that a farmer put forward, simply, a statutory declaration, stating (1) how many bags of wheat harvested; (2) how many bales of wool cut; (3) how many sheep bought; (4) how many sold, and their price. The department would be able to fix on a sum as representing the cost of producing a bag of wheat and a bale of wool in the average, and then arrive straight away at the approximate profit made, and assess accordingly. This will relieve the farmer and the Treasurer, too, for it would mean increased revenue. There are any number of farmers nowadays, who will not undertake the completing of such cumbersome forms though perfectly willing to pay their share of the tax. If a farmer merely had to make a declaration (before a magistrate) on the lines indicated, there would be no trouble about it, and all the worry and time-wasting of the present system would be saved.

"Country" asks for a simpler system than the present income tax returns, so far as they affect the farmer. Probably the British system would suit him. If a farmer rents his land in Britain he is assessed for income tax at one-third of the annual value of the land. If he owns his land, the basis of his profit for ownership is the annual value, and for his farming operations he is assessed at one-third of the annual value. He has the option of making an ordinary trade return, such as the Commissioners ask for.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The directors of the Royal Insurance Company have granted Mr. H. F. Francis, the local manager, four months' leave of absence, prior to retirement. He has held the position for 30 years. Mr. Francis, who has been appointed to a seat on the local board, will be succeeded in the managership by Mr. F. E. Denmark. The members of the Fire, Marine, and Accident Underwriters' Associations entertained Mr. Francis on Friday, and presented him with a gold watch. The staff of the Royal Insurance Company presented him with a handsome piece of plate; and the senior officers of the company entertained him at Paris House on Friday evening.

TARIFF RECOMMENDATIONS.

VEHICLES AND THEIR PARTS.

WHEELS AND AXLES.

MOTOR CARS AND LORRIES.

As to the minor parts of horse-drawn vehicles, the Interstate Commission deals with them in what may be called part 2 of its report, and the third part refers to motor cars and motor vehicles. The bulk of part 2 refers to axles and springs, but there are other small or minor parts, such as malleable iron castings, brake screws, scroll irons, and drop shackles, and so on, which receive mention. Australian makers confine themselves for the most part to the heavier kind of axles and springs, leaving the lighter and more naty kinds to foreign makers. Makers of these articles asked for further tariff protection, while coachbuilders asked for reduction in the duties, or else for their abolition. There are common axles, there are common nut axles, there are patent axles among the heavier kinds, and our manufacturers point out that they have not the range of machinery that American makers have, while one witness stated that labour here objected to the introduction of labour-saving machinery, and insisted on a man and a boy managing a machine which in America would be managed by one man alone. The Commission feels unable to express any opinion whether there is justification for the assertion that labour resents the introduction of machinery, but it points out that benefits have followed its introduction, and instances the boot and shoe manufacturing trade as proving its assertion. One or two witnesses in favour of lower duties tried to show that locally-made axles are inferior in quality; but in reply, testimonials were submitted by local makers which testified to the excellent quality of the axles they manufactured. The duties of 40 per cent. general and 35 per cent. preferential should, in the commission's opinion, prove sufficient for the requirements of the industry; but it is of opinion that an incentive may be afforded to a wider production, and an increase in the variety of locally-made axles, if axle-boxes, the manufacture of the United Kingdom, were exempt from duty for the locally-made axles, provided the Minister is satisfied the particular axle boxes exempted are not commercially made in Australia.

Only one manufacturer of springs applied for increased duties, but others made it clear that they did not agree to any reduction being granted. The applicant for increased duties wished to extend his plant, and said, moreover, that not one-sixteenth of the springs used in Australia were made here. He makes locomotive, motor car, and all spiral springs, and springs of every description. There are 200 employees in this industry in the Commonwealth, he said, "whereas if we got the whole of this business, we could employ at least 1500 men." "We," in this case meant the whole of the spring manufacturers in Australia. At present the duties on springs are 40 per cent. general, and 35 per cent. preferential, and the finding arrived at is conveyed in the following words:—"In the opinion of the Commission no satisfactory evidence has been submitted which would justify an increase in the duty provided in the 1908-11 tariff on vehicles and other similar springs."

The duties on bodies of motor cars, lorries, and waggons, including dashboards, footboards, and mudguards are at present £17 general and £15 preferential for single-seated bodies; £24 10s general and £21 preferential, for double-seated bodies; and £42 general and £36 preferential, for bodies with fixed or movable canopy tops, e.g.—landaulette, Limousine, taxi-cab, and similar types, and n.e.i. Twelve motor body manufacturers, including representatives from every State, made formal application for increased duties. Some of them wished higher fixed duties; others asked for an ad valorem impost as an alternative to the fixed duty, to be charged in the usual way—which ever yields the higher sum. Evidence from witnesses indicated that the cheaper steel bodies cannot profitably be made here, and that any increase in the present specific duty rates may tend to injure the industry as a whole, without any compensating advantages. Adopting this view, the Commission recommends that in addition to the specific duties, there be imposed an alternative ad valorem rate of 40 per cent. general and 35 per cent. preferential.

Chassis for cars, motor waggons, etc., have been classified since February, 1914, as "steam waggons for use on the highways, if fitted for carrying a load and if the primary use is not for tractive purposes, and made dutiable at 5 per cent general duty, and free under the preferential sections of the tariff. The Commission recommends that the item in the tariff relating to them should read:—"1. Chassis for ordinary passenger motor cars and light delivery vans, with self-contained power, propelled by petrol, steam, electricity, oil, or alcohol (but not including rubber tyres), general tariff 5 per cent, preferential free. 2. Chassis with self-contained power, propelled by petrol, steam, electricity, oil, or alcohol, n.e.i. (but not including rubber tyres), ad valorem 35 per cent. general, 30 per cent. preferential). It extends the latter's recommendation to chassis for railway motor vehicles as well. Malleable iron castings for vehicles generally it promises to deal with among the miscellaneous recommendations on the tariff, and cast steel centres will be dealt with in the report on iron and steel.

COMMERCIAL.

DRAWBACK ON GOODS.

The Collector of Customs states that the order providing for the enforcement of Customs regulation 138, relating to the repacking of goods entered for drawback, has been for the present postponed. The amended instructions are to operate on and from the 15th instant.

DESTRUCTION OF SHIPS.

A special tally on the destruction of shipping during the war is being kept by the New York "Journal of Commerce." At the beginning of July this authority estimated that 2,713,996 tons of merchant shipping had been lost, of which Great Britain lost 1,671,892 tons, France 302,716 tons, Norway 166,308 tons, Italy 130,136 tons, and Germany 177,615 tons. The Allies' losses amounted to 2,097,359 tons, out of a total of 28,177,000 tons owned, according to "Lloyd's Register." Approximately one-third of the tonnage lost by the Allies was compensated for by captures made. The United States Department of Commerce estimates that during the year 1915 Great Britain's net loss of shipping was only 11,151 tons. In view of the increasing attention given to the construction of merchant ships during the last few months, and the requisition of enemy ships in Portuguese and Italian ports, the current year's figures will probably prove even more satisfactory to the Allies.

PRODUCE.

AUSTRALIAN BUTTER MARKETS.

In its report dated September 2, Prescott Ltd., states:—

Sydney.—There is no change in the position of the market. Supplies still continue to be extremely scarce, and retailers receive only about 25 per cent. of their requirements. The price for choicest still remains at 144/8. The Queensland Government price for export is 150/, so there is no chance of relief from that quarter unless the price here is advanced to such a figure as will show a small profit to the importer. We anticipate it will be a few weeks yet before our supplies increase to any great extent.

Melbourne.—The market has been reduced this week to 150/ for choicest quality. Supplies show a considerable increase for the week ended 29th ult., arrivals being 5881 boxes and 43½ tons cream.

Brisbane.—There is no alteration in the market, local sales being made at 150/ for firsts. The Government is still taking over unsold balances, which they are offering to other States at 150/, f.o.b. They therefore hold the monopoly of the export trade in first quality. The estimated production for last week is 5766 boxes, being an increase of about 550 boxes on the previous week.

MILLS CLOSING.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

Mr. Swayne, M.L.A., has received the following telegram from Mr. Thornton, secretary of the farmers' organisation at Ayr, Burdekin, North Queensland: "Farmers here unanimously decided to cease all operations from date, pending redress. Three mills closing here. This will mean approximately 1200 men out of employment."

Mr. Dunworth, secretary of the United Canegrowers' Association, telegraphed from Mackay to Mr. Swayne as follows: "Taking into consideration the operation of the Cane Prices Board award, and the incidence of the Dickson industrial award, we are asking an advance in the price of raw sugar from £18 to £24, being an advance of 13s 3d per ton of cane on the basis of nine tons of cane to a ton of sugar."

The treasurer (Mr. Theodore), accompanied by the Under-secretary, Mr. Fowles, left for Melbourne yesterday for the purpose of conferring with the Prime Minister on the matter of the sugar crisis.

AUSTRALIA AND AMERICA.

TRADE PROSPECTS.

He explained during the course of an interview that his railway company creates the tonnage or traffic inland, and is prepared to work in conjunction with a fleet of steamers in carrying merchandise to and from Seattle and other ports on Puget Sound, just as the Union Steamship Company, working in conjunction with the Canadian and Pacific Railway, now carries on intercourse between the western coast of America and this continent.

MINING.

DULNESS REIGNS.

It may be too much to say that mining speculation is dead, but the fact remains that there is so little of it as to make the game hardly worth looking at. For the past couple of weeks a quiet spirit has descended upon the Stock Exchange, not because there are no buyers or sellers, but because they cannot come to terms. Prices paid for such parcels as have changed hands have not been quite maintained, but there has been no fluctuations worth the name of a drop, and at the moment there is no appearance of a disposition to recede by sellers or to advance by buyers. It has been already mentioned in the "Herald" that the spectre of taxation looms on the horizon, and this is given as the reason why such quietness is observable.

Brokers have plenty of buying orders, but not at present rates. The buying prices of such stocks as have changed hands, where not due to news from the mines, have been on the whole steady, although such changes as may be noted have been generally in a downward direction, but not enough to tempt speculators into launching out. Copper shares seem to have been neglected, and this is certainly not due to the reported bad developments in the underground or surface workings. There is a fear that copper mine dividends will receive special attention from the taxgatherer when he comes along. One thing is to be noted—all the sales of copper shares made in Sydney during last week were of stocks from outside the State, unless the C.S.A. mine be treated as a copper proposition. It has been considered a silver mine up till lately. A strike at one of the mines comprising the Hampden group was settled during the week, but that fact, instead of helping the shares along, has not had any effect at all upon prices.

All the speculation in silver-lead stocks has been in New South Wales mines, and Broken Hill has accounted for every one of the companies save one—New Burragorang. Broken Hill Proprietary shares have had most attention, but Broken Hill South has run it closely, and Broken Hill North has been a good third. Outside these Junction North and Junction have been most affected by purchasers. But the trend of prices has been slightly downward.

Gold shares have been responsible for not far short of half the total number of sales made on Sydney Exchange during the week, and Westonia ventures have taken the greater part of the attention. Half a dozen of these companies have participated in the sales. Edna May Central opened the week at 32/6, and closed at 30/; Edna May Deep Levels opened at 38/6 and closed at 36/6; and other mines of the group have slowly dropped in price. Two New South Wales companies have had sales—Araluen Redbank Dredging and Occidental.

Vegetable Creek tin mine has had a couple of sales of scrip during the week, and all the other speculations in this class of metal producers have been in overseas stocks, called with more or less correctness Malaya stocks. Trongs have rather hardened during the week, but as to the rest very little is to be said. It may be noted that the Sydney Stock Exchange has not been alone in its quietness—both Melbourne and Adelaide have participated in it—and there is an all round feeling amongst buyers that prices are too high in present circumstances.

Saturday was a dull day on the Exchange, and all the buying in gold and tin stocks was in properties outside the State.

MINING NOTES.

At the Rosebud mine, owned by the Corella Company, the south drive at the 300ft level has been driven to 156ft, the last 5ft through quartz and chalcopyrite; average width sampled 60in, valued 5 per cent.

The Deebook output for August was 25 tons of tin oxide, from 41,000 cubic yards of wash. The working time was 466 hours.

A dividend of 3/ a share has been declared in the Edna May Central Mining Company, payable on September 19.

At the warden's court, Ardlethan, an application for suspension for three months of labour conditions on a mining lease, on the ground that the rains have made sinking impossible, was granted. Conditions were, however, imposed that operations be resumed when the water subsides, and that test bores be put down from time to time.

Our Ardlethan correspondent writes that the new find at Kamarah by Thompson and party has an outcrop of very rich ore, which is traced along the surface for fully 100 yards. At a depth of 2ft stone has been obtained equal to any yet seen on the field.

CHILLAGOE MINE RAILWAY.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

The cabled statement that the debenture holders in Chillagoe, Limited, had adopted a resolution accepting the offer of the Premier of Queensland to purchase the Chillagoe railway for £450,000 cash has aroused considerable interest, particularly by reason of the fact that for some time the district has been in a state of stagnation. The smelters have been shut down since April, 1914. On them depended the prosperity of the whole district, and Chillagoe itself is described as being now practically deserted.

All the negotiations were carried out by Mr. Ryan, the Premier, while in England. It has also been suggested that the deal embraces the Chillagoe copper smelters and machinery, and a coalmine, but this has not been confirmed.

GRENADE EXPLODES.

SERGEANT-MAJOR INJURED.

PERTH (W.A.), Sunday.

Sergeant-Major Greenfield, bombing instructor at Belmont, had his forearm shattered as the result of the premature explosion of a hand-grenade yesterday. The forearm was subsequently amputated. Greenfield, while instructing a bombing class in the manipulation of grenades, lit the fuse of one and was in the act of throwing it, when the explosion occurred.

FIRE AT BROKEN HILL.

BROKEN HILL, Sunday.

A fire occurred about 2 o'clock on Saturday morning in a two-storied building in Beryl-lane, attached to the Messrs. Wright Bros.' bakery. Both stories were gutted. The first contained eight bakers' carts, a lorry, and buggy, and these also were destroyed. The upper story was occupied as a gymnasium by Mr. P. Coates, boxer, and this also was burned out. The building was insured for £500 in the Commercial Union office, but the vehicles were not insured.

ROBBERY AT KENSINGTON.

On Saturday night a thief visited the premises of Michael C. Willescroft, who conducts the Royal Laundry at Strachan-street, Kensington, and stole £21 in notes, gold, and silver. The money was taken from the drawer of a wardrobe in a front bedroom.

LAWN TENNIS.

ASSOCIATION'S TOURNAMENT.

The tournament arranged by the New South Wales Lawn Tennis Association for the purpose of raising funds for the construction of a practice board at the Double Bay ground was begun on Saturday afternoon. As the handicaps are sealed the result of the day's play is of little value in indicating probable winners. N. Peach and Garden scored 9 games to 8 when opposed by L. and C. Todd, who beat F. Peach and Goodman 8-7. Jordan and Neil, the latter taking the place of Plomley, accumulated a large number of games. An interesting feature of the event was the first appearance of a Japanese pair in a tournament at the Double Bay ground. Probably many more will be seen in the near future, for the game is making great progress amongst the Japanese, whose ability to become proficient rapidly is shown by the records of Kumagae in America and Shimizu in India. The tournament will be continued, and, if possible, completed next Saturday.

RUGBY UNION.

A GRADE WON BY NEWTOWN.

At the Sydney Grammar School Ground, Rushcutter Bay, on Saturday afternoon, the Metropolitan Rugby Union concluded the season with a re-union and sports meeting. There was a fair attendance. Knock-out competitions were held, and a number of athletic events were decided. A feature of the latter was the performance of H. Hutton (Glebe-Balmain) in the 110yds. Rugby Union championship. Running in boots and football clothes, he covered the distance in 11 4-5s, beating Gilison (North Sydney-Mosman), who had twice won the event previously. In the football competitions Newtown won in the A Grade, Chatswood School of Arts in B Grade, and St. John's in the C Grade. Results:—

THE AUSTRALIAN GAME.

FIRST LEAGUE SEMI-FINAL.

PADDINGTON v SYDNEY.

The first semi-final game for the League premiership was played on Saturday at the Agricultural Ground. The contestants were Paddington (last season's premiers) and Sydney, and both teams had their full playing strength afield. The play was fast from the bounce, Sydney showing out strongly, in marked contrast to the disjointed play of Paddington. Though playing against the wind, Sydney scored first, and they held the lead till Messenger (the well-known Rugby League player) put Paddington ahead with a beautiful place kick. At the interval the scores were:—Paddington, 4-5; Sydney, 3-2. In the third quarter Paddington, with the exception of a goal by Perry for Sydney, monopolised the scoring, and at the end of the term led by 8-11 to 4-2. In the closing ten minutes of play Sydney came with a series of brilliant bursts, which were, however, too late to recover lost ground. Paddington won by 10 goals 11 behinds (71 points) to 7 goals 5 behinds (47 points). Paddington goal-kickers: O'Neill (4), Messenger (2), McInerney, C. Leggatt, Fitzgerald, and Bird. For Sydney: Meadows (2), Rowlands (2), Hume, Perry, and Shannon. A. Dunsmore, field umpire.

JUNIOR LEAGUE SEMI-FINAL.

In the early game H.M.A.S. Tingira beat South Sydney Juniors by 5 goals 5 behinds (35 points) to 3 goals 3 behinds (21 points). Goals were scored for the winners by Mills (2), Edwards, Thompson, and Gill; and Houston (2) and F. Chirgwin scored for the losers. L. Davidson, field umpire.

CASUALTIES.

THEATRICAL ARTIST SHOT.

A peculiar accident occurred at the Princess Theatre, Central-square, on Saturday afternoon, resulting in Miss Eva Branningham, 24, an artist, receiving a bullet wound in the leg. Miss Branningham, in the course of her vaudeville turn, performs a feat of marksmanship with a revolver. On Saturday she had just lowered the revolver after using it, when by some mishap the weapon again discharged, and the bullet entered the front part of her right leg below the knee. The Civil Ambulance took her to Sydney Hospital.

SHUNTER INJURED.

BULLI, Sunday.

Marcus Graham, who lives in Bank-street, Bulli, was shunting a train at the Federal railway station yesterday, when one of his feet caught in the points. Several trucks passed and jammed his foot, causing severe lacerated wounds to his leg.

WOMAN POISONED.

BULLI, Sunday.

A married woman, Lucy Lovelock, 49, living at Coledale, was admitted to the Bulli Cottage Hospital on Friday night suffering from poisoning. She subsequently died. She leaves a grown-up family.

UNEXPECTED ARREST.

Traffic-constable M'Cann was walking along an alleyway at the back of George-street yesterday, when he saw a young man racing towards him. The constable stopped and questioned him, and then took the man back along the way he had come. They met a soldier, who alleged that he had been assaulted in George-street and robbed of a pound note and a wallet containing military papers and a railway pass. The constable, who had recovered the missing property, took his captive to the police station, and charged him with assault and robbery.

CHURCH EXTENSION.

There was a large gathering at Hurstville on Saturday afternoon, when the Archbishop of Sydney laid the foundation-stone of additions to St. George's Church of England.

The Primate, who was presented by the contractor (Mr. C. C. Patterson) with a silver trowel and mallet, in congratulating the parishioners on the spirit displayed in entering upon the work of the extension of the church, said that 70 years ago the first services were held in a tent on the spot they stood on that day. The cost of additions to the church would total about £900. The sum of £750 had been raised, and it was hoped the balance would be considerably reduced by donations that day. (Applause.)

The Rev. Dixon Hudson (rector) said that he had heard it said that the present time was not at all suitable for enlarging the church, as there was no money in the country. In answer to this he had been informed by a banker friend that although the war had been in operation two years there was never so much money flowing into the banks as just now. "We manage in this country to spend twenty millions annually in drink, and in addition Randwick is booming. Indeed, said the speaker, everything else seemingly is carried on with the assistance of pounds, but the Church has to work on threepenny bits."

FLOWERS OF FRANCE.

A lieutenant in the Australian Artillery now in France, who was wounded in the Gallipoli campaign, writing to Mr. Gordon M'Clymont, of Glebe Point, gives a cheerful picture of the conditions ruling in his part of the sector in July:—"You are no doubt reading of great doings in the papers daily now. This sector seems to be giving old Fritz a hot time. I know they make a deuce of a noise about it, and it is about time. No need now to worry about shortage of shells. Britain is doing her bit now; God bless her; and she will keep it up in conjunction with France and the others. This is what Americans would call 'some' country. Crops growing right up to and over the trenches—and such crops. There are beautiful poppies flowering by the roadside, and in the ditches, and even between the Boche trenches and ours—in No Man's Land—there are beautiful flowers. No wonder the French are so feverishly patriotic to la belle France. It is worth it all. This front is very different to Gallipoli, especially in the matter of tucker. Fancy a soldier at the front having porridge and bacon and eggs for breakfast, meat and vegetables for lunch; then afternoon tea, and for mess, roast beef and vegetables, strawberries or peaches and cream, with a cup of tea and toast before turning in, usually between one and two o'clock. Our rest is broken and irregular; but what's that? We have to pay for the extras; but, believe me, it's fine."

"WHEN SPRING UNLOCKS THE FLOWERS TO THE LAUGHING SOIL."—Heber.

Despite the din and shock of battle, nature, with a supreme contempt for the vagaries of puny men, follows her age-old routine in the matter of seasons. And as we once more welcome September, the maid of the drift silver feet—who ushers in the birth of New Year.

Spring is the Season, without doubt, which lends itself to gorgeous colourings. No scheme, however garish its tonal effects, seems out of place. The whole of the prismatic colours, with many intermediate shades, are lavishly invoked, and it is the aim of all devotees of fashion to share in the general tribute to the springtime.

SPECIAL NECKWEAR WEEK COMMENCES TO-DAY.

WHATEVER IS NEW AND SMART IN NECKWEAR IS HERE REPRESENTED, AT VALUES UNEQUALLED IN THE CITY.

Neckwear is always an attractive subject. Pretty Collars and Fronts are accessories of dress that all women love to buy, and in this they are wise, for well-chosen Neckwear will do much to smarten a simple gown, and will give such splendid service that money judiciously expended in it is always a source of great satisfaction.
At FARMER'S special showing this week the variety of Neckwear Styles is infinite—dainty collars and fronts, artistic in design, and particularly smart in effect.
Perhaps never before has there been offered such a superb collection of new designs, at prices so surprisingly low.
The values are indeed striking, as a personal inspection will at once prove.

THE MATERIALS.

There are Collars and Fronts in sheer Muslin and Organdi, Crepe de Chine, Ninon, and Crepe Georgette, in White and delicate tints of Pink, Blue, and Sand, which are so much favoured this season.

SOME OF THE STYLES.

Included among the Styles are the Lily Collars and Fronts, so named on account of their graceful Lily shape, and others that open like the petals of a flower.
Again, there are Collars that are open in front to reveal the throat, and others that clasp the neck in high-fitting, ruffled, and pleated effects that are charming.
Roll Collars and others that lie flat are also in evidence, made daintier with little touches of hand work. Each individual taste and style has been studied.

HOW TO CONVENIENTLY INSPECT THE NECKWEAR.

For the convenience of customers, tables have been arranged in the Neckwear Department, Central Pitt-street Shop, on which are placed different Collars and other Neckwear Styles, each table being marked at one special price.
This arrangement enables a leisurely inspection to be made, and prices are plainly ticketed. Inspection is also invited of the artistic window displays.

WHAT THE TABLES CONTAIN.

No. 1 TABLE.—On this table there are flat fitting Collars in a delicate shade of flesh tint, embroidered with touches of White. PRICE, 1/3 each.
No. 2 TABLE.—This features Roll Collars in Sheer White Organdi Muslin, delicately embroidered. Various designs for selection. PRICE, 1/3 each.

No. 5 TABLE.—Very Effective White Embroidered Organdi Muslin Collars, inserted with Fine Guipure Medallions in points of Collar. Six dainty designs for selection. PRICE, 2/6 each.
